

Family of Child Cancer Victim Needs Help from Neighbors

A three-year-old Warren girl is struggling against cancer at this moment in Roswell Memorial Park, Buffalo, N. Y., where doctors have little hope of saving her life.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mikan, 469 Pleasant Drive, have watched the condition of their daughter, Lori Jo, worsen steadily since she contracted cancer last year. Lori has a malignant tumor of the spine, which requires special medical care in Buffalo.

Although the Mikans have Blue Cross insurance to cover the hospital costs, they must pay for other expenses incidental to the disease. Since last August, when Lori was first admitted to Roswell, the Mikans have made over 60 trips between Buffalo and Warren.

These trips have required money for transportation, room and board, and tolls. And when Lori returned home temporarily, they incurred her expenses as an out-patient.

The Mikans cannot stay in Buffalo for any reasonable length of time because Michael Mikan must hold his job at Struthers Wells, and his wife has five other young children to care for at home.

In the past, pride has kept Mikan from accepting gifts to help his financial situation, but as Lori's condition has worsened, the resulting more frequent trips to Buffalo have depleted his resources. Now he admits that he has to get assistance or plunge deeper into debt. The Mikans are foregoing payments on many of their pressing bills so that they can be with Lori.

Concerned neighbors have asked The Times-Mirror to serve as a collection headquarters for any donations that kind-hearted Warrenites would care to give to alleviate the financial burdens caused by Lori Mikan's tragic illness.

Any contributions will be greatly appreciated by the Mikan family, who have always donated to similar Times-Mirror causes during more fortunate times. Donations may be brought to The Times-Mirror business office or mailed to The Mikan Fund, in care of The Times-Mirror.

FLOWERS ARE BLOOMING ON THE BRIDGE — Members of the Warren Garden Club and the City Beautiful Committee are receiving many favorable comments on the flowers planted this week at the approaches to the Hickory St. Bridge. Geraniums, petunias, marigolds and other varieties were planted in the rain Tuesday by Jeanne Probst and Marie Richards in the four redwood and cedar boxes which were filled and positioned on the bridge by the Borough Park Department. The Warren Florists Association provided the flowers. Tom Conway, a member of the Warren Garden Club, is inspecting one of the plantings above.

Bradford Youth, 17, Confesses

One of the young thugs involved in yesterday's brutal slugging and robbery of a gas station attendant is in custody here. Police also know the identity of the second youth but had not caught up with him earlier today.

In custody is a 17-year-old youth from the Bradford area, who was apprehended at his home by Assistant Bradford Chief John Woodley and State Police Sgt. John Druchia of the Kane substation.

CHIEF OF POLICE Michael Evan of Warren told The Times-Mirror today that the press and radio coverage containing descriptions of the assailants and their get-away car greatly assisted police in tracking the one down. Evan said that telephone reports of the pair's wild ride from the scene of the crime to the Bradford area enabled Bradford police to find the youth now in custody, when the car used by the robbers was spotted in his driveway.

The one boy being held here has admitted his part in the crime and was positively identified by Clyde Knapp, the victim.

Majority of Warren Co. Voters Are Using Machines in Elections

The majority of Warren County's registered voters use voting machines although they are installed in only slightly more than half of the county precincts.

FIGURES BASED on primary election registration statistics show that although only 55.3 per cent of the county's 47 precincts —Corydon 1st and 2nd now vote by absentee ballot—have voting machines, 84.2 per cent of the county's voting population is registered in these 26 election districts.

Thus, Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen says, a thorough study is needed before the county is faced with the necessity of buying more of the $1,700 machines.

THE STUDY, which he recommended be made during yesterday's meeting of the county commissioners, would determine the need for voting machines and the commissioners' responsibility for supplying them.

The results, he feels, would justify, in some cases, asking township supervisors to consider consolidating voting districts in order to support a voting machine.

THIS IS the age of consolidation, he said, and he is in favor of it. It should have relatively little effect on the election day turn-out, he noted, "because if a person wants to vote he will regardless of where the polls are located."

If the local township wants to combine voting precincts (they can be consolidated only within township boundaries), he said, "I would recommend and encourage this thinking in terms of providing a voting machine for two districts."

MOREOVER, Crippen said, the study might bring about a re-evaluation of specific area when it becomes necessary to replace existing machines. Many machines were purchased as far back as 25 years ago; as they wear out, they have to be replaced.

The purchase price of the last two machines bought was $1,715. Prior to that time they cost $1,640. The increase in price, he said, is due to the fact that the new machines print the totals for each candidate. With the old machines, the counters have to be checked.

THUS, THE county now has close to $60,000 tied up in voting machines.

Mead Twp. supervisors have asked the commissioners to supply a voting machine for Mead 1st. It was suggested yesterday that Mead might be willing to consider combining the first precinct which has 185 voters with Mead 2nd which has 113 for a total of 298 in order to support a machine.

They have been asked to have their solicitor draw up the proper resolution to have the question placed on the ballot. In the meantime Crippen is hoping the study will make it feasible.

39 Killed as UAL Plane Crashes

NEWPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Searchers gathered grim evidence today of death and destruction which followed the crash and burning of a United Air Lines plane near this mountainous east Tennessee town late Thursday. All 39 persons aboard were killed.

Investigators said 70 bags of fragments, including 23 bodies, were removed by midmorning to a special morgue set up in Newport's Municipal Auditorium. National Guard units from nearby Morristown joined civilians in the task.

Federal authorities rushed into the area to seek clues which caused the big airliner to crash in good weather, apparently with little or no warning. Some witnesses reported they saw the Viscount turbo-prop explode and objects fall from it shortly before dark. The wreckage was scattered over a wide area in the foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains near the North Carolina border.

Searchers found two flight manuals but had been unable to find the plane's automatic flight recorder.

Dr. W. B. Robinson, a Newport physician, remained at the crash scene throughout the night.

"I'm sure we'll find additional bodies when the wreckage has been cleaned up," he said. United asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to make an inquiry into the nation's worst airline crash since a Pan Am jet crashed in 1958.

Goldwater Calls for Party Unity, Refuses To 'Dictate' GOP Planks

By LEWIS GULICK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Barry Goldwater, the odds-on favorite in the GOP presidential race, called for party unity today and told platform writers he would not dictate what to put in their planks.

Addressing the Republican platform committee at its final hearing, the Arizona senator made scant reference to the specific planks tossed at his views by his rival, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, before the same group Thursday.

"You must speak for the whole party," Goldwater told the committee in prepared remarks. "You must seek a document that will unite us on principle, not divide us."

"Let the creative differences, even in your own committee, help you build a platform, not tear down the party. Let the vigorous dissents test the applications of our principles, not tear down the principles themselves."

Goldwater went on to expound his philosophy—a free society under constitutionalism at home and strength for freedom and peace abroad—but added: "I would not presume for a moment to tell you what should or should not go into this platform in terms of specific planks, pledges or programs."

And "I look forward wholeheartedly to supporting the document that you draft," he said. "I look forward to running on it. I trust and will always serve this party, in whatever capacities it may assign."

Goldwater was the last scheduled star witness as the 100-man committee wound up a week of testimony and headed into closed-session writing of the party document tonight and Saturday.

A behind-the-scenes fight was already on with signs it could spill into the convention next week.

After lopsidedly losing a preliminary procedural skirmish about what they termed "gag rule" Thursday, Scranton forces on the committee presented a sheet of "moderate Republicanism" proposals to the 13-member executive committee.

The Scranton planks contrasted pointedly on a number of domestic and foreign affairs statements made by Goldwater, and the executive committee seems certain not to accept them in full.

Frame on Job

State Sen. Richard C. Frame has been designated as the liaison officer between the Scranton for President Headquarters at San Francisco and the Republican National Committee.

Sen. Frame has established his headquarters at the San Francisco Hilton, the convention headquarters, and site of the National Committee staff.

Scranton's campaign manager, Pennsylvania Sen. Hugh Scott, said the fight could spill into the nominating convention next week.

Scott presented some "moderate Republicanism" planks Thursday night to the 13-man executive committee which is drafting language to be acted on by the full committee starting tonight.

The Scranton proposals jabbed at Goldwater positions on a variety of issues and stood little chance of full acceptance by the committee. The Scranton planks included affirmation of constitutionality of the new civil rights law, opposing giving military chiefs the decision on firing atomic weapons and opposing making Social Security voluntary.

The Pennsylvania urged a strong civil rights plank (Goldwater voted against the 1964 civil rights bill), specific condemnation of The John Birch Society and a foreign policy "free from rash and impulsive actions."

Later Scranton held a hurriedly called news conference to demand that Goldwater give the committeemen today a transcript of the senator's recent interview in the German magazine, Der Spiegel.

Parts of the Der Spiegel story have been in the news before, alarm at a portion of the interview in which Goldwater was quoted as saying that as presi-

Family Booted Off Surplus Food List

ERIE—An Erie family discovered burning a large quantity of surplus food has been removed from the county surplus food eligibility list.

The fire was discovered Tuesday afternoon. The surplus food investigator said a quantity of corn meal and oatmeal had been destroyed and that about 50 or 60 pounds of these commodities and powdered milk were in boxes near the fire.

Although he was able to save some of the food it was discovered to be bad, much of it full of roaches and soaked from sitting in the rain.

Bid Accepted

CORRY—Council has accepted the low bid of the Olszewski Bros. Co. of McKean County for the north end sewer project. The McKean firm bid $117,010 on the job, far below three other bids.

'Victim' Alive

TITUSVILLE—John Kinney of Titusville, believed to be a drowning victim in Oil Creek late last night, was found very much alive lying on the creek's banks after city police and firemen searched for him for more than an hour.

According to police, Kinney was walking across Oil Creek near Drake Well with his brother, Richard, when he fell and disappeared. Richard searched for him for a time, then gave up and left.

The "drowning" victim apparently pulled himself out of the water and decided to rest on the bank, police said.

Sees Relocation

ERIE—County Commissioner William O. Hill Jr. predicted late yesterday that Port Erie Airport someday will be relocated to Harborcreek Twp.

Airport spokesmen have customarily played down any talk of relocation for fear of speculation by private investors in land.

Hollywood Reporting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Take a good look at shapely Barbara Nichols. Would you believe this bundle of sex appeal is one of the best cooks in town?

Barbara lives alone in a three-story apartment off the Sunset Strip. She does all her own cooking.

"It's really the thing I do best," says Barbara. "But no one will believe it until they try it."

In the seven years Barbara has lived here, she has had many boy friends but few who could see her in the kitchen.

"It's terrible to be a good cook—and have no one to cook for," she laments.

Often she invites her dates over for home-cooked meals but she usually gets the same answer: "Honey, let's eat out."

"Somehow, they take one look at me and think I'm going to poison them—or something," she said.

Miss Nichols, 30, a product of Huntington, Long Island, N.Y., has developed her culinary talents over the years, occasionally picking up recipes from her boyfriends.

She has dated a number of men over the years, including Armenian playwright William Saroyan.

"Bill likes my cooking very much," said Miss Nichols.

"I learned many good Armenian recipes from him."

Most of her favorite dishes are of the exotic variety, featuring French and Italian cuisines.

Girls who look like Barbara just don't go with the kitchen image. Most of her roles explain why. She usually plays a showgirl or stripteaser, or something that exposes her curves.

Impalas Added To Midway's 'Pep Room'

MAPLE SPRINGS, N. Y. — A new musical group and an additional dancing session at Midway Park were announced today by Frank Walsh, general manager.

He said the Impalas, featuring saxophonist Jackie Meurer, will be featured each Wednesday night in Midway's newly named Pep Room. Formerly named the Sunset Room, the newly decorated rendezvous is styled after the famed Peppermint Lounges in New York City and Miami.

Attendance in the Pep Room is restricted to those 18 or over. For the younger element, Walsh said dances will be staged at Midway Park each Sunday night. The hops will be emceed by Jim Roselle, popular disc jockey at WJTN, Jamestown.

"Because of the tremendous acceptance of the WKBW Radio Dance Party in the ballroom on Friday nights," Walsh said, "and of Jim Roselle's WJTN Dance Party on Wednesday's, we have decided to add the Sunday night dances."

Dances at Midway are conducted in the roller rink, which is convertible into an open-air dance pavilion with a capacity of 2,000 persons.

Nine Youths Under Arrest For Drinking

Nine juveniles were arrested yesterday in the Sugar Grove area by Deputy Sheriff James Peterson. The apprehension of the group, ranging in age from 13 to 17, stemmed from a drinking party which resulted in some property damage.

Police said that on July 3, the nine boys went into New York State and purchased beer, returning to Pennsylvania to consume a quantity of the malt beverage.

All were charged under a new act, Section 675.1, which prohibits the purchase, consumption, possession or transportation of intoxicating liquors or malt beverages by persons under 21 years of age.

The juveniles paid the minimum of $25 each plus costs of prosecution, a total of $39.75 each. Under the new law, the maximum fine is $100. When a juvenile is able to pay the fine, the case is considered disposed of. However, the sheriff reminded that when an offender cannot pay the fine imposed, he is turned over to the juvenile court.

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I took my four-year-old son and five-month-old daughter downtown to pay some bills. I parked on the street in a shady spot and rolled down the window to keep fresh air in the car. Then I placed the baby on the seat so she couldn't roll off and hurt herself. I left the car unlocked, expecting to be gone only five minutes. I was gone about 15. When I got back, I saw a woman standing beside my car. When I started to get in, she began to lambaste me. Didn't I know about kidnappers? How dare I leave that baby alone? She also pointed out that I had left the keys in the ignition. When she had her say, her friend showed up with a policeman! They had reported me. I know this could have looked bad, but I am a good mother and resent others butting into my business. What is your opinion?

A GOOD MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The observant woman did you a favor and the policeman could (and perhaps should) have run you in. Careless care of babies is the public's business, whether you "resent" it or not.

DEAR ABBY: I went to a doctor and he said I had to lose 65 pounds. How can I do it when I have no will power? I know I can't stay on a diet because I've tried. I get as hungry as a bear an hour after I eat a meal. If I walk down the street and happen to catch the smell of something cooking somewhere, I go crazy until I stop and buy a candy bar or a bag of peanuts. If I see something to eat advertised on TV I can't forget it until I go and buy some. Today I was real good and didn't eat any sweets or bread, but on my way home I saw a dog chewing on a bone, and I had a terrible urge to take it away from him! I wish they could put me in jail for 30 days and feed me nothing but bread and water. Can you, or anybody, help me?

JOE

DEAR JOE: Only you can help yourself. Start over again! Ask your doctor to give you something to discourage your appetite. Then find a picture of a beautifully proportioned man in bathing trunks and tape it on your refrigerator. Once you make up your mind to do it, dieting is a cinch. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: Is it abnormal for a young married couple to want to furnish their own home? My husband and I were married a year ago, and we decided to start out with bare rooms and buy good pieces of furniture one at a time as we could afford them. Our relatives won't let us. I don't want to sound ungrateful, but we have the worst looking collection of unmatched furniture you ever saw. Rugs, lamps, chairs, tables and even pictures relatives thought would fill up the place. We had to act pleased when they gave us these things, but we would rather be without anything than a home cluttered with cast-off monstrosities. How can we tell them?

WILLING TO WAIT

DEAR WILLING: You poor kid! Stuck with a houseful of unmatched furniture instead of nothing! If you really prefer an unfurnished home start returning the "monstrosities" one by one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIVING MODERN": Lots of luck, but it might be wise to remember that God has no double standard.

Marines' Commandant To Ask Boost in Strength of the Corps

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commandant of the Marine Corps indicated strongly today he will ask for a boost in the strength.

Gen. Wallace Greene Jr. told The Associated Press in an interview that new planes and weapons coming into the corps require more people to maintain and operate them.

It has been four fiscal years since the Marine Corps was granted more men. The Kenedy administration allowed it to go up by 15,000 men.

That increase was used to bring Marine ground and air units up to strength and to add elements.

Greene said the new F4B Phantom jet fighter bomber requires a two-man crew, rather than the single crewman of earlier planes used by the corps.

In addition, he said, it takes up to 100 more men per squadron to maintain this technically sophisticated type of plane.

"They are just starting deliveries of the F4B to the Marine Corps," the commandant said. "By fiscal 1966 we're going to have a real problem finding the people."

Fiscal 1966 is the coming bookkeeping year.

When the Redeye, a shoulder-fired guided missile for defense against low-flying planes, enters the Marine arsenal "we're going to require additional people," the four-star Marine general said. This is some time in the future.

Green said there are three ways the increased manpower demands can be met: (1) adding to the corps' overall strength, (2) deactivating some units and shifting the men to other assignments or (3) reducing the manning levels of combat units.

Men In Service

Airman Walter R. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loven H. Simpson, 213 Prospect, has completed the first phase of his Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Simpson, a 1963 graduate of Warren Area High School, has been selected for technical training as an aerial specialist at the Air Training School at Greenville AFB, Miss.

Army Pfc. David L. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. Olson, RD 1, Youngsville, has been assigned to Battery B of the 61st Artillery's 4th Missile Battalion, a Nike-Hercules missile unit at Robins Air Force Base, Ga. Olson is a launcher crewman in the battery.

The 25-year-old soldier was stationed in Germany prior to his new assignment. A graduate in 1959 from Youngsville High School, Olson was employed by Robert Williams Enterprises before entering the Army.

FOUR SUSPENDED

Four Warren County motorists have had their operators licenses revoked or suspended for the period beginning June 22. They are: Anthony Cerra, 107 N. ## Two Local Librarians Attending Courses at Chautauqua Institute Funds donated by Friends of the Library are again being used to send two members of the Warren Library Association staff to a summer course in reference work offered at Chautauqua Institute by the Syracuse University School of Library Science.

MRS. ELIZABETH Smith, head of the Interlibrary Loan Department, and Mrs. Martha McCune, of the Circulation Department, are enrolled in the three-week, three-credit course. Directing the course is Miss Jane Carstens, assistant librarian and assistant professor of library science at the University of Louisiana, Lafayette, La.

The sessions will cover consideration of the general book collection and of the special tools useful in finding answers to the questions most frequently asked in libraries. Practice in the use of these tools is a part of the course, as well as analysis of reference questions.

EACH YEAR the Warren Library Association conducts a Friends of the Library drive for funds in order to provide such training, as well as to purchase items of equipment that cannot be covered in the regular budget.

For the past five years, part of the donations have been used to send library staff members to Chautauqua for summer courses.

THESE HAVE included cataloging and classification of books, services to adults, young people, and children, and reference work.

This professional training vastly increases the knowledge and capabilities of library staff members, resulting in a higher degree of professionalism in the staff and in the services the library offers its patrons.

LBJ Hates Floodlights, Finds He's Lost Spotlight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, like most politicians, enjoys being in the spotlight. But he sometimes frets about floodlights.

Of course, spotlights and floodlights often go together and you can't have one without the other, Johnson discovered this Thursday.

Because the President dislikes the big, hot flood lamps used by television cameramen, he lost some of the spotlight when he signed the $375 million mass transit law.

The signing ceremony was the sort Presidents like to publicize—especially with four governors, three big city mayors and 24 congressional leaders on hand.

But when Johnson signed the transit act not a single news photographer was present. And there was no television or newsroom coverage when he said the new law is "one of the most profoundly significant domestic measures" of the decade.

Here is how the much publicized chief executive missed some sure-fire publicity:

On Wednesday, Johnson was discomfited, and made no bones about it, by photo floodlights set up in the East Room when he and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy greeted federal prosecutors from all parts of the country. Aides vowed they would try to avoid recurrences.

This was no sudden presidential quirk, either. On other occasions he displayed similar aversion—which many others share—to long exposure under hot, bright lights.

Mindful of this, Johnson aides decided to keep photographers out of the bill-signing ceremony except for the opening minutes when he made his entrance.

People in the News

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—The father of the Fischer quintuplets has confirmed that his wife is expecting a baby—their 11th—but says reports it may be another multiple birth are unfounded.

"Only God knows," said Andrew Fischer, 39, Thursday in a statement. "No X-rays have been taken."

The quintuplets will be one year old Sept. 14. The Aberdeen American-News said Mrs. Fischer, 31, is expecting in early fall.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will receive the second annual Family of Man Award of the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

The council said Thursday he will be honored at a dinner Oct. 28 for his "life-long dedication and contributions to the principles of freedom and humanity throughout the world."

NEW YORK (AP)—James M. Landis, former dean of the Harvard Law School, has been suspended from practicing law in New York State because of income tax violations.

The State Supreme Court's appellate division ordered the action Thursday on petition by the Bar Association of New York City.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, asked if he favors any candidate for president, said Thursday: "I haven't even told the Lord my thoughts yet."

Graham, in Columbus for a 10-day crusade, said he has never

World News in Brief

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Twenty-four members of the pro-Castro underground have been captured along the Venezuelan coast east of Caracas, the army announced Thursday. Four members of the terrorist armed forces for National Liberation (FALN) were found on a beach in the El Bachiller zone near Barcelona.

Ten other terrorists were seized with weapons, radios, stolen uniforms and Communist guerrilla manuals en route to reinforce the El Bachiller unit, police said. The leader escaped in an exchange of fire.

Another band of 10 guerrillas was captured near Maturin.

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force says its first steel-reinforced concrete missile sites are now operational at undisclosed sites in Central Europe.

The new hardened sites protect the recently introduced mace "B" missile, the Air Force's Thursday.

It, which can be fired by a seven-man crew, has a range of 1,200 miles for either nuclear or conventional warheads.

Fluoridation in Ohio

THE SUBJECT of fluoridation of public water supplies is a hot one—unnecessarily so, in our view—but every now and again a few facts come along which offset some of the wild scare-talk of the anti's. Such a group of facts is contained in a special article in last Sunday's Youngstown Vindicator. Writing in the Vindicator, Richard Moore tells of the effects on students' teeth after 10 years of fluoridation in Youngstown.

Moore says, in part:

"Fluoridation of Youngstown's drinking water is a smashing success, reducing tooth decay and loss around 50 percent and more among school children, according to a 10-year study by the Corydon Palmer Dental Society.

During its 1954-64 research the society found that DMF rates (decayed missing or filled teeth) were reduced by 54.5 per cent among first graders, and 47.3 percent among high school freshmen.

"For all three grades, the reduction averaged 48.08 percent. Dr. Robert C. Carr, survey committee chairman said national public health authorities had said to expect reductions of only 53 to 40 percent.

"The society was one of the movers in getting sodium fluoride added to the Meander water supply in 1952.

"Tooth mortality (teeth missing or beyond saving) dropped astoundingly during the decade of study, along with care needed. That is an all-inclusive term denoting a need for dental treatment of any kind—cleaning, straightening, caries filled or extractions.

"Among pupils in all three grades checked who had lived most of their lives in the area served by Youngstown water, there was an over-all reduction of 23.3 percent in tooth mortality by 1959. By 1964, the reduction was 54.28 percent.

In human terms, the results represent a reduction in discomfort and pain of tooth decay, the society points out. Then, too, multiplying teeth saved by the $8 average to repair a tooth, means savings to parents of thousands of dollars. The society noted in its midway report of 1959 the fluoridation until then had saved Youngstown area parents $160,000.

"By now," Dr. Carr said, "the figure would be at least twice that, a terrific economic savings. But this isn't the most important thing. The prevention of the pain and discomfort of bad teeth is most important."

"Counting noses or rather teeth of those in all three grades who needed some kind of dental care, the dentist found in 1954 that the teeth of 68.5 percent of the children needed attention. By 1959, this dropped to 55 percent and this year to 46 percent, a one-third cut in 10 years. This, too, it was noted, represents a financial saving.

"The society's procedure was this: in 1954, society members and public and parochial school dentists examined the teeth of 6,755 school children—3,038 in the first grade, 2,309 in the sixth and 1,408 freshmen.

"They found these DMF rates: $924 for the first graders (an average of less than one bad, filled or missing tooth per child), 4.74 in the sixth grade and a whopping 8.84 for the freshmen. By average of all three groups, every second boy or girl had lost one tooth.

"In 1959, the dentists checked 7,127 pupils who had lived in the fluoridated area more than five years for first graders and 10 years or more for freshmen. Also examined were pupils who had lived in this area less than those lengths of time; these were tabulated separately as control groups, although most had gotten some treated water.

"The society reported sodium fluoride benefits already were apparent by 1959.

Ending that first five years, the school and society dentists found that DMF rates per child had dropped from .924 to .464 among first graders, a 49.78 percent reduction; from 4.74 to 3.69 among sixth graders, a 22.2 percent reduction (this group was the first grade group of 1954), and from 8.84 to 6.69 among freshmen, a 24.3 percent drop. The DMF reduction overall was 25.2 percent.

"Moreover, tooth mortality in all groups in the fluoride (F.) column had already dropped by 23.7 percent.

"The incidence of tooth mortality in the three N.F. groups dropped (with comparable F. figures in parentheses) from the .567 of 1954 to .551 (.435) in 1959 and to .458 (.259) in 1964.

"That's the analysis of 12 years of fluoride in city water.

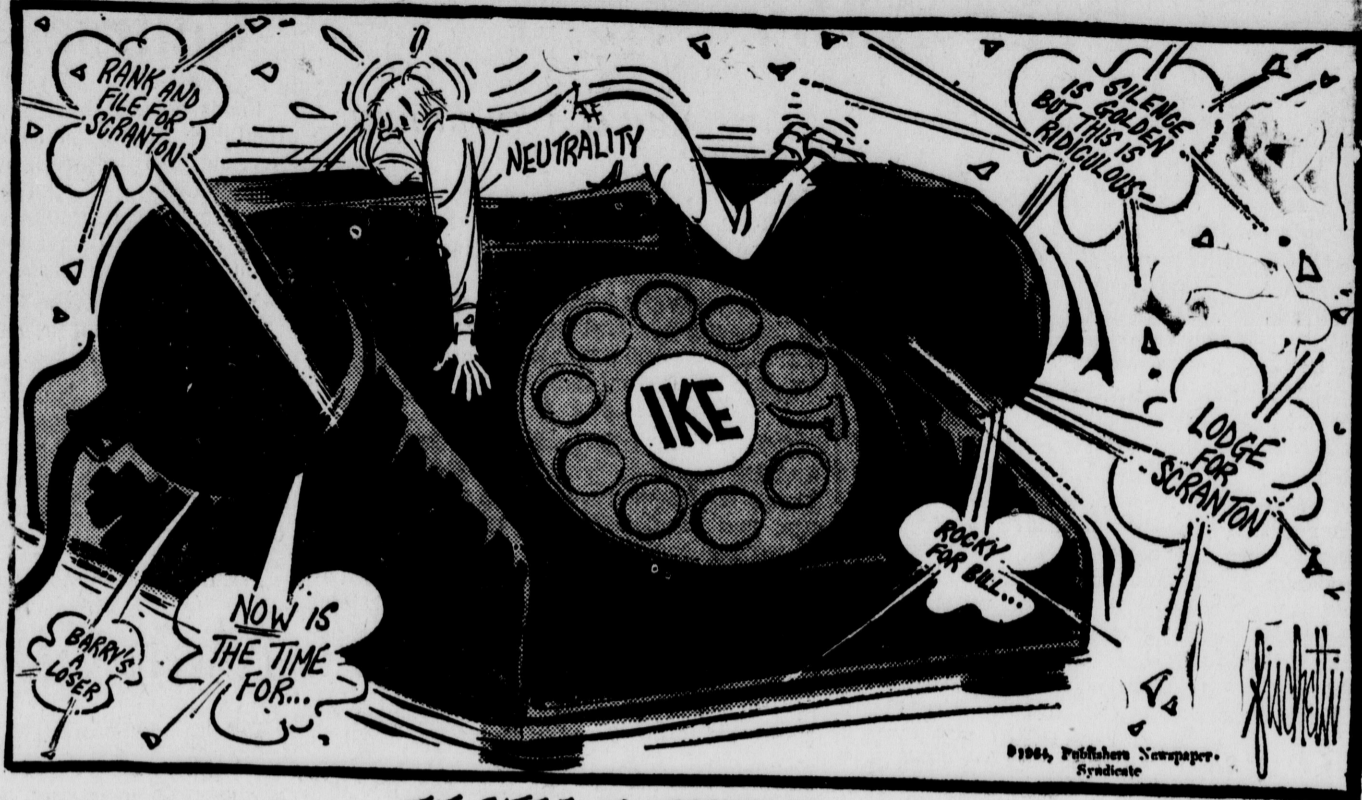

"Dr. Carr said more than 70 society members participated in the program on their days off to examine the children's teeth.

"The society spokesman said, too, that Dr. Ethel Bender, dentist for public schools, and Dr. Robert Morrison, parochial schools' dentist, "did more work than anyone on this. They checked all the children in entire schools."

"Youngstown's water, Dr. Carr said, has .3 of a part per million of natural fluoride. The city water department adds enough to bring it to one part per million, the amount recommended by public health authorities to achieve maximum benefits, and analyzes the water regularly to maintain proper balance.

"The fluoride addition was initiated here upon the urging of the dental group and others under authority of City Council, the board of health and the water department. When the program began, Youngstown was the largest city in the nation to put fluoride in its water supply."

THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG

Drew Pearson: Washington Merry-Go-Round

(EDITOR'S Note — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian, who has been active in civil rights battle).

Washington, D. C.
July 10, 1964

Dear Dick Gregory,

You and I talked last spring about the progress of Negro rights and your warning of the long, hot summer of discontent which lay ahead. We're now in the middle of that summer.

In the middle of another summer, July 21, 1964, I stood on the steps of the State Capitol in Atlanta to deliver a radio broadcast in defiance of the KKK, which had dared me to come to Georgia.

I cite this because I am not unsympathetic to the cause of Negro justice and have not flinched from danger in promoting it. The American Broadcasting Company at that time took out $1,000,000 worth of insurance on my life.

But I would earnestly disagree with you that now is a time to risk lives and incite passions by sending an army of white students into Mississippi — idealistic and courageous as I am sure they are.

I say this primarily because the nation has just adopted a historic new code of fair play for all minorities and it is only fair to give the South an opportunity to live with and adjust to this new code.

I say this also because there have been changes in the South and because it is necessary to give the more enlightened leaders of the South an opportunity to lead. They should not be handicapped by outsiders whose presence incites bitterness and resentment.

The city of Atlanta, for instance, during the 18 years since I stood on the steps of the State Capitol, has seen a wise Police Chief, William Jenkins, use Negro policemen on a completely integrated basis and in proportion to the racial balance of the city. It has seen Mayor William Hartsfield, now retired, pioneer race relations to a point of genuine harmony and friendship.

It has seen the people of Georgia elect a Negro to their Senate, North Carolina elect a Negro to their State Assembly, and the people of Louisville elect a Negro as chairman of their Board of Education.

And last week it saw Negroes register, eat, and sleep at the best hotels in Jackson, Miss., without incident.

True, as you told me, the Negroes have been waiting a long time—101 years—and they are tired of waiting. Most of the nation doesn't blame them. They have been overly patient.

But I would point to the speed with which better understanding has increased in recent years. To illustrate: In 1958 when the Clinton, Tenn., High School was completely destroyed by dynamite because it integrated, I undertook to raise money to rebuild the school, but encountered fear on the part of Southern leaders.

Lyndon Johnson, then Senator from Texas, declined to serve on the fund-raising committee. LeRoy Collins, the ex-Governor of Florida, also declined. Both were helpful in giving advice neither wanted to be identified publicly with any fund-raising drive for the Clinton school.

Luther Hodges of North Carolina, now Secretary of Commerce, was the only Southern governor willing to serve.

Today the Clinton School has been rebuilt, and is completely integrated, and Negro students are playing an active part in student activities.

But, more important, today the same Lyndon Johnson has signed into law the greatest document for Negro Freedom since the Emancipation Proclamation. Even before this, as Senator from Texas, he expedited the passage of the first two civil rights bills in 87 years. Unquestion-ably the latest and strongest civil rights bill in history would not have passed without Johnson's material and courageous prodding. The bill incidentally, will lose him more votes than it will win.

Today also the former Governor of Florida, LeRoy Collins, is in charge of Community Relations for the civil rights bill, and he will do a fine job.

All this happened in six short years. In that period Lyndon Johnson has grown, LeRoy Collins has grown, but, most of all, the nation has grown.

So I repeat: Give the new Civil Rights Law a chance. Give the wiser leaders of the South a chance to live with the law, to show up the rabble rousers, the Klansmen, the Wallaces, and prove that most of the South can be a law-abiding part of the nation.

There will be pockets of resistance, of course; there will be cases of violence, but for the most part I do not think the real leaders of the South will let you down.

If you do decide to continue with "Project Mississippi," America's conscience fund will continue to offer rewards for those who become the victims of violence, as it has in the case of the three missing students in Philadelphia, Miss.

But punishing the guilty cannot restore life.

And I would suggest that there are scores of Negro communities in Northern cities where the juvenile crime rate is soaring, the school drop-out problem is denorable, and where students can serve their fellow men less spectacularly but more efficiently than in Mississippi.

Of course, if the Civil Rights Law does not work, if I am wrong about Southern leadership, then there will be plenty of time for the courage and dedication of American students to operate in the months to come.

Yours sincerely,
Drew Pearson

And he noted,

too, that the absence of official sources "naturally raises the question of how accurate the book is."

In bits and pieces, and often through criticisms of legislators disturbed by untoward international events to which the Central Intelligence Agency was linked, the American public has been given a smattering of impressions about the CIA while the compilation of "The Invisible Government" might well focus into sharp apprehension.

The repeated allegations of the CIA's undercover intervention in the internal affairs of other countries become a source of special concern when there is the suspicion that this agency is not only doing far more than normal intelligence gathering but that it operates without adequate supervision from top responsible officials in our "open government."

Such suspicions would be impossible to dissipate by public revelations, because those revelations would destroy an apparatus whose effectiveness in serving the national security depends in large part upon the very secrecy that may cloak both mistakes and improper activities. But the public could be reassured that the secret intelligence establishment is under effective supervision—and the basic democratic controls over government policy and action protected against erosion—if a blue-ribbon joint Senate-House committee like the one on secret atomic energy matters were established to check on American intelligence activities.

This is what the authors of "The Invisible Government" argued for. And the formation of such a committee has been supported by this newspaper for years past. If the book about CIA, and associated bodies, is inaccurate or overdrawn, then the best—and only—rebuttal possible to its contentions and charges are in private before a tight-lipped and trustworthy committee of Congress.

Such a committee really is possible to form.

John Chamberlain: These Days

New Republican Landscape?

SAN FRANCISCO—There has been virtually no speculation about what the Republican Party will be like with Goldwater in control, probably because even those commentators who were for him have not really believed in their hearts that he could make it all the way. But if he does win next week—and it begins to look like a certainty, with the reported swing to him in Wisconsin and Ohio—there will be a wild journalistic scramble to paint an entirely new Republican landscape.

The first thing to be said is that a group of relative unknowns will suddenly become the subject of interviews, cover stories, "Meet the Press" confrontations, and what-not. Denison Kitchel, who ran the Goldwater campaign, is even at this late moment an obscure expert in mining law who happened to become friendly with the Goldwater family when he moved from the East (he lived in Bronxville, and holds degrees from Yale and Harvard) to Arizona. Kitchel is credited with changing Goldwater's mind on the subject of the duty of the Federal government to enforce compliance by the separate states with the Supreme Court's decision on school integration. Kitchel is very far from being a shoot-from-the-hip type—and in the case of a Goldwater victory in November he would be a sound think-it-over-twice man as Attorney General, a post which he would be fully entitled to for his services.

Dick Kleindienst had the ticklish job of coordinating the early "Draft Goldwater" enthusiasts, a jealous and possessive group, with the so-called "Arizona mafia" which Barry pulled in to help him after his decision to run last January. Kleindienst is credited with wishing to be Governor of Arizona. The present Governor of Arizona, Paul Fannin, wants to become a Senator, and, since Barry will not run an "insurance" campaign to hold his present job if he is the party nominee for President, Fannin could have his shot at his desire. The probable double shuffle in Arizona politics would take Kleindienst out of Washington, but he would remain a valued Goldwater confidant.

Kleindienst's fellow coordinator, Clifton White, who hitched his wagon to Goldwater's star over a year ago, will surely become a most potent Republican power. They talk now about such canny Republican pros as Len Hall of Oyster Bay, New York, and Ray Bliss of Ohio. Well, Clifton White may be spoken of as the man who reduced Hall and Bliss to unenviable roles as "those who sat on the fence too long."

A Goldwater triumph would signal the victory of the Republican Congressional party over the so-called Republican Governor's party. This could mean that either Senator Ev Dirksen of Illinois or Representative Bill Miller of New York will get the Vice Presidential nod. It also means that Mel Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP platform committee, will be a man to conjure with. Laird is a devout party man, the grandson of a former Lieutenant Governor of Wisconsin. His ideas run close to Goldwater's save on civil rights. This deviation doesn't work him much, for he believes that Goldwater will have no more difficulty in enforcing civil rights than Lyndon Johnson, who once held to Goldwater's position that a public accommodation law would be unconstitutional. Laird took the lead recently in putting out a book of essays called "The Conservative Papers." The book marked him as a Goldwater man.

Another member of the House of Representatives, Don Bruce of Indiana, will assuredly play a big oratorical role in a Goldwater campaign against Lyndon Johnson. Bruce is currently a lame duck Congressman, for he lost out in a bid to become Indiana's junior Senator and he missed the filing date for running to succeed himself in the lower House. But he is a potent man on the platform, and he has a future in a Goldwater party.

Still another relative unknown is Lee Edwards, who has run Goldwater's publicity. Lee is the son of Willard Edwards, the Chicago Tribune's veteran Senatorial press gallery reporter. He was the first editor of an organ of young conservative Republicans called "The New Guard." He represents the young—two million of them, according to a good estimate—who shamed Goldwater into staying the course last November when Barry really had no heart for fighting the shade of John F. Kennedy.

Anne Is Eyed For R & R Role

Miss Midnight's Notebook: Anne Bancroft may get the leading role in Richard Rodgers' Broadway musical version of "The Time of the Cuckoo," which Shirley Booth originated on the stage and Katharine Hepburn played in the film edition titled "Summertime." Can Anne sing? Probably she can; she does everything else to perfection, and it's not likely that Mr. Rodgers would entrust any of his songs to an actress without musical ability. He's notably fussy that way. In the Rodgers conception of the script, the heroine will not be an ageing spinster, but a young American girl who goes to Italy for a dramatic change of scene and way of life.

From a close friend of the Kennedy family: "Sargent Shriver has assured Jacqueline that he won't compete with Robert Kennedy if the Attorney General wants the Vice-Presidential nomination. That would be the last thing he would want. It is clear that Jacqueline, so close to Robert, is dedicated to him, believing strongly in his ability and his destiny." . . . The producers of "Barefoot in the Park," the Broadway comedy hit, demanded that film producer Stanley Kramer post a $25,000 bond assuring that Elizabeth Ashley will return to her leading lady role in "Barefoot" on schedule, after she's completed her role in "Ship of Fools."

Jerry Lewis always has had a formidable entourage, but it's growing. When he makes personal appearances around the country to ballyhoo his new picture, "The Patsy," he'll be accompanied by 27 assistants of one kind or another, usually termed "yes-men"—and probably more, as the list grows daily, and he has until August to invite chums.

Mitch Miller, responsible for discovering so many singers is boosting Tobi Reynolds, currently at the Cafe Au Go Go . . . Burl Ives' medically regimented rice and fruit diet has been a great success. He's lost 90 pounds, with only 10 to go . . . Sen. Kenneth B. Keating set some kind of record by greeting thousands of admirers at half a dozen top hotels in the Catskills. But he wasn't prepared for what hit him when he arrived at the Concord and got the "Hello Dere" treatment from the madcap team of Marty Allen and Steve Rossi, who just happened to be performing there. They did 20 minutes of ad-lib kidding directed at the Senator from the huge nightclub stage, and after it was over, Sen. Keating was virtually mobbed by the Concord crowd. He took it all with good humor.

The town's top disc jockeys are sending their best wishes to ailing Roy Battocio, the very popular young Capitol Records executive . . . Five nightclubs in Atlantic City that had closed because of poor business are planning to reopen within a few weeks to capitalize on the Democratic convention crowds expected to go pub-crawling after agenda hours.

Robert Goulet, whose records are beginning to be big sellers in Europe and the Orient, plans an extensive world tour in 1965 . . . Merriman Smith, dean of White House correspondents, is back at his desk after a hospital stay, but still weak and underweight. His illness—a burst blood vessel between the eyes—could have been fatal. Doctors won't permit him to leave Washington, so he will not be traveling with the LBJ caravan for a while.

Keeping Well . . .

WHAT is mental health? It involves the ability of a person to form normal relationships with others. The emotionally stable respond freely and responsibly to the demands made on them by their fellows, and they are willing to cooperate and communicate with those about them. These people appreciate their kinship with family, friends, and associates and are capable of love and compassion.

They belong to the community in which they live and participate in its religious, economic, and social activities. The mentally healthy realize that such varied contacts enrich living.

The emotionally disturbed often alienate themselves from family and community. They become estranged, detached and withdrawn. The purpose of psychiatric care is to restore their ability to rejoin the human race.

This is not always easy to do because they have built up defenses against adversity and the stresses of society. The longer this situation persists, the harder it is to change. Sedatives shock therapy, and other forms of treatment help but much more than this is required to relieve anxiety, restore confidence, and encourage the victim to communicate.

We learned a lesson in World War II about psychiatric casualties (shellshock and psychoneuroses) in combat. The outlook was better when these men were treated in nearby first aid posts and returned to duty quickly. Those who were evacuated to base hospitals were less likely to find themselves back at the front. Why? After being evacuated, the service man's defense mechanism had time to harden and become well established.

The modern mental health clinic is comparable to the first aid stations of World War II. The person with an emotional problem is seen earlier and many are able to rejoin their family and community after short term treatment. These centers also give follow-up care to those who have been institutionalized and are living at home.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer

A. H. writes: I have diabetes (under control) but pruritus still continues. Should it not have subsided after urine and blood sugar became normal?

REPLY—Yes, if it was due to diabetes. Allergy and nervousness are other possibilities. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on itching. There are several new tablets and lotions for this annoying symptom.

S. T. writes: A 6-year-old boy stutters. His father always has been strict with him at the table. Could this harshness be responsible for the child's speech defect?

REPLY—Yes. There is a strong emotional aspect to stuttering.

D. T. writes: If a person gets high blood pressure, does it occur suddenly or gradually?

REPLY—Gradually except in malignant hypertension or the type that develops during pregnancy.

Mrs. L. writes: Can flu shots early in pregnancy deform the baby?

REPLY—Not to my knowledge.

M. K. writes: Could calcium deposits in the jaw be due to a former attack of tuberculosis?

REPLY—This is doubtful.

The Kennedy Myth in the Making

Not some of the facts. All. Johnson asked that the Chief Justice of the United States subpoena and question any and all witnesses, in his discretion. This would include the Secret Service, C.I.A., F.B.I., Dallas Police, members of the Presidential party, the widows Oswald and Kennedy, friends and enemies of Kennedy and Oswald—even Jack Ruby, assassin of the assassin.

The Warren Commission has listened to fat volumes of testimony and, so far as I know, made only one slip of the tongue. This was after one of the hearings when the Chief Justice said that some of the facts might not be published "in our lifetime." He has since said that he could have kicked himself for making this off-hand remark. What he meant was that testimony relating to defense secrets of the U. S. are still "classified"—that is, secret—and that such references cannot be made part of the public report, unless the Department of Defense makes them "unclassified."

None of this will have any bearing on whether Oswald did or did not shoot the President, and did or did not do it alone. The report will be specific on this matter and no writer has a license to prejudice such a report.

The Chief Justice can command the presence of any one in the U. S. to testify in this case, and has all the weight and power of the government behind him, and yet writers who have no assistance other than a fistful of facts geared to irresponsible imaginations have already "solved" the Kennedy tragedy.

The sensational books will sell better than those which have been well researched. They always do. When I wrote a book called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," the research turned up scores of cheap books which made John Wilkes Booth look like the trigger man for "the forces of evil"—sometimes even members of Lincoln's cabinet.

When my father was a youngster, he heard that Booth had not been shot in Garrett's barn, but was living in the territory of New Mexico.

When truth is simple, few want to believe it. The Russians took Berlin and arrested everyone who witnessed the burning of Adolf Hitler and Eva Braun, but books were written presenting "proof" that Hitler was still alive, hiding in South America. When Warren G. Harding died suddenly in San Francisco, the writers said he had been "poisoned" by his Republican cronies.

Woodrow Wilson, according to some, died of a loathsome disease. When Stalin died, the stories said he had been killed by his own secret police, the NKVD. Was it the Romans or the High Priests who killed Jesus Christ? Take your pick, or, better pick your writer.

Shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy, I agreed to write a book to be called "The Day Kennedy Was Shot" for Random House. The contract is signed. Not a bit of work has been done on the book because, until the Warren Commission Report is made public, the basic facts of the case will remain unknown. My feeling—naïve perhaps—is that this is the starting point.

The true, the accurate story of Nov. 22, 1963, is still to be written. There is no guarantee that it will be written by me. The best I can do is try. It is a long steep road for any writer. Facts are not easily sifted, and writers have a tendency to include only such facts as may support their views.

Beware of the book which asks a question in its title, and beware of those which make vague promises of "exposing" an inside story. After you read them, you will find that the only thing they expose is you, as a sucker . . .

Brinkley's Convention, Part 2

(EDITOR'S NOTE: David Brinkley continues his reflections on past Conventions and Campaigns on the American political scene.)

By DAVID BRINKLEY

The earliest nominating conventions were closed to outsiders, but, eventually, the public was not only admitted but commandeered for support. In 1860, Abraham Lincoln's champion, Norman Judd—without Lincoln's knowledge—insured a sizable cheering section by counterfeiting tickets to the gallery.

Despite the huge audiences now assured through camera and microphone, today's campaigns are far less vitriolic than they were in the 19th Century. In 1884, the main issue of the Presidential election seemed to be Grover Cleveland's illegitimate child versus James G. Blaine's corruption. This was the election of "Blaine! Blaine! James G. Blaine! The Continental liar from the State of Maine!" and "Ma! Ma! Where's My Pa! He's gone to the White House, ha, ha, ha."

That election, by the way, was very close. And when the tightness of the New York vote held up returns for several days, New York City's Western Union office was stormed by mobs calling for the company president's neck, with "Hang Jay Gould!" It isn't generally known, but the memory of that threat is one big reason Chet and I waste no time at all in relaying the returns to viewers.

It was in the early 1900's that the railroad train really came into its own as a traveling podium. Because the Populists couldn't afford the luxury of special trains, they tried to stop the other parties from using them. Populist-controlled legislatures of several western states passed laws prohibiting political gatherings less than 200 feet from a track, thus eliminating rear-platform addresses. But their rivals were not to be thwarted. They set up platforms at the legal limit, then had the local orators address the crowds until the candidate's train pulled in. A carriage would then whisk the main speaker from train to platform. At the sound of the train whistle, he'd be transported back just as rapidly. Thus was born the notable "whistle stop" campaign.

First Democratic convention to be broadcast (and nearly the last) was the get-together of 1924—the longest on record. That was the affair in which the head of the Alabama delegation began every roll call with the immortal words "Alabama casts 24 votes for Underwood." Not until the 103rd ballot was John W. Davis nominated to run against Coolidge.

The conventions of the Twenties evoked this classic evaluation of the two national political parties by the New York Times' Arthur Krock: "Democrats are excitable, difficult to lead, idealistic and reckless when in convention assembled. history demonstrates that they would rather fight among themselves than with the enemy. When Republican delegations are released from their home instructions, they go to their bosses. When Democratic delegations are released, they go to pieces."

It was in 1928 that nationwide facilities were first used extensively in a campaign. "Brown derby" Al Smith emerged the loser against "High Collar" Herbert Hoover. While many explanations have been offered for the result, not a few experts have attributed Smith's defeat to his pronounced New York delivery that radio carried outside the city.

If radio did, indeed work to Hoover's advantage in that campaign, it boomeranged against him four years later. For the magnetism of Franklin Roosevelt's voice, as he pledged "a new deal for the American people," might well have been too much for any opponent.

The first televised convention to be seen by a substantial number of viewers was in 1948, a year in which they also watched the primaries, the campaigns and the highlights of the election itself on their home screens. Once staged exclusively for the delegates, the conventions, from this point on, would be produced for the millions across the nation.

There will always be a debate, we suppose, as to whether the convention itself is the best way to select our presidential nominees. George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe were among the finest Chief Executives in our history. Yet, none of their candidacies came about through the nominating convention (an institution that didn't come along until the 1830's.) Hmmm.

Life in the Soviet Union Today

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Preston Grover, for five years Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow, reports on aspects of life in the U.S.S.R., in the first of four articles.)

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—If you don't look too closely, this country is in many respects almost like the United States. In many others, it is not.

Far more people go to the movies than to church. You buy your food in stores, meat from the butcher, bread from the baker and shoes, cloth, waste baskets and aluminum pots from the department store.

On Sunday you can go to the races in Moscow, and on Monday read another letter from an angry housewife demanding that the race betting machines be closed because "they are the ruin of Communist youth."

The boys and girls in college take to one another a little too freely, in the view of the elders, but when an order was issued at Moscow University prohibiting girls from visiting alone with young men in the dormitories, there was a loud outcry from the students. In a newspaper article they accused their elders of hypocrisy and insisted they didn't need to be coddled. Divorce courts function, far more simply than in America. Just as in America, the court tries to effect a reconciliation. The percentage is low.

In the five years I have been here, clothes have grown noticeably better. For the most part they still are shoddy as to material, and even far more shoddy as to design. Yet a style show just held displayed men's and women's things much better made. They haven't reached the stores yet. Prices of shoes and clothing are atrociously high, a suit often the price of two months salary.

Americans always have been liked, and envied, by a great body of the population which would like to have things here the way they are found in America. In spite of Premier Khrushchev's promises, it isn't going to be that way very soon, and Russians know it.

There is a growing resistance to the constant nagging of the party and government. Some time ago one of the perennial "do-gooders" assigned to help police the streets tried to take a group of celebrating young men to the police station for singing too loudly in the streets at night. In the fracas the youths beat the man to death.

One was sentenced to be shot and another to 15 years in prison. But less violent resistance shows up often. The great Anglo-Saxon desire to be let alone is showing up here although it is contrary to all Communist party discipline.

Despite Communist efforts to provide bread and circuses, life is drab for most people. In an organized sort of way, the Communist party tries to do something about it. The colorful church holidays and ceremonies have almost disappeared from Soviet life and there is a frantic effort to find something to replace them, for there is a slight drift back to religious ways.

"We invite you to create new holidays and make them gay and festive," said the labor paper, Trud, this spring. "Let there be new and beautiful rituals in factories, towns and mines," the paper said. It urged planting a tree by the father of a newborn.

A new apartment always is the reason for a wild party. That is easy to understand. Scores of thousands of families still live two to three families in a single room, with a common bathroom, and a common kitchen. Now it is practically forbidden to move into Moscow, while the city catches up with its housing.

You're Telling Me!

— By William Ritt —

Brimstone sulphur, according to Factographs, is the cheapest of all the Earth's elements, selling for about one cent per pound. Sure sounds like a hot bargain.

Among instruments to be included for the London premiere of Aaron Copland's "Music for a Great City" are cowbells and sandpaper. Cowbells?—in a Big Town?

And we wonder if the sandpaper is to suggest that, in a metropolis, the competition can be mighty rough?

No Elephants, Now It's Fruit

WASHINGTON—We are happy to make our semi-annual report on the state of humor and youth in the United States. With rare exceptions, elephant jokes are out and jokes about fruit are in. No one knows why, though Roger Price, one of the authors of "The Elephant Book" has a theory that fruit jokes came out of elephant jokes and probably started with the riddle: "How do you tell an elephant from a grape?" The answer: "A grape is purple."

This was immediately followed by: "What is purple and stamps out fires?" Answer: "Smoky the Grape."

Mr. Price has just put out a new book, "Elephants, Grapes, and Pickles," with his friends Lenny Stern and Larry Sloan. He believes young humor is getting even more abstract and becoming more and more like action painting.

For example: "What is purple and can go through a whole police force?" Answer: "A plum with a press pass."

"What is white, has one horn, and gives milk?"

"A dairy truck."

"What is purple and lives in Monaco?"

"Princess Grape."

As usual Mr. Price has gathered most of his jokes from his friends' children.

"Among his favorites are:

"What's yellow and lies on its back?"

"A tired school bus."

"What is green and brown and crawls through the grass?"

"A Girl Scout who dropped her cookie."

"What is green and flies through the air faster than a bullet?" Answer: "Super-Pickle."

"What is black and white and has fuzz inside?" Answer:

"A police car."

Mr. Price said that the abstract joke has spread across the seas to Great Britain. He received several from friends in England which he will probably include in his next book.

One was: "What is yellow and soft and goes round and round?"

"A long-playing omelette."

"What's white outside, green inside, and hops?"

"A frog sandwich."

"What has snap, crackle, but no pop?" Answer: "An orphaned Rice Crispy."

Since custard is the national dessert of England, there were bound to be some children's jokes on the subject.

"What is yellow and comes at you from all directions?"

"Stereophonic custard."

"What's soft and yellow and very, very dangerous?"

"Shark-infested custard."

Mr. Price, who is fairly abstract himself, said, "I don't or less disappeared and it's a healthy sign. Instead you have:

"What is blue and goes ding dong?"

"An Avon lady at the North Pole."

James Marlow's World Today

The Senators Vs. Justices

WASHINGTON (AP)—They're on vacation now but even when they're in session the Supreme Court's nine justices never give their opinion except on Mondays.

But this doesn't mean they don't have an opinion now on what the Senate just did to them. They'll never express it from the bench.

Over the years, particularly since its 1954 ban on public school segregation, the court has been denounced, reviled, attacked, criticized, heckled and abused and there have even been suggestions to lynch Chief Justice Earl Warren.

But, undiscouraged and undeterred, the court has gone on making new enemies with new decisions, like the one banning compulsory reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools.

Each decision seemed to irritate some members of Congress where proposals to retaliate have ranged all the way from restricting the court's authority to constitutional amendments to undo what it did.

All came to nothing. The court escaped unscathed, and no one could guess the Senate would hit it in a place never suspected: the pocketbook.

This year the court had surpassed itself in irritating Congress. At least some members of it, by a landmark decision showing how far the court is willing to go, if Congress won't act, to assure equal treatment to people.

It was a decision requiring states to reshuffle their congressional districts from which members of the House of Representatives are elected.

The court wants: the districts revised according to population to give voters more equal representation in the House. "One voter, one vote," is the court's philosophy. In the rearranging some present members of the House may lose their jobs.

But the court's opinion does not affect senators. Each state, large or small, is entitled to two senators. They're elected statewide, not by districts, and population has nothing to do with it.

Oddly enough, it was the Senate, not the House, which decided to get tight-fisted with the justices. Earlier this year President Johnson pushed Congress to pass a federal pay raise bill.

It would mean a boost for more than 1.7 million people on the government pay roll, including the justices, federal judges, members of Congress, Cabinet members and other executives.

To do this the House voted $533 million, the Senate $564 million. Because there was a difference the two houses will have to iron it out. The final agreed on total will be voted perhaps later this month.

So far so good. But the House and Senate didn't see eye to eye on a raise for the justices, eight of whom get $35,000 a year. The chief justice gets $35,500. The bill both houses considered called for raising them all $7,500.

While the House approved, the Senate cut the raise to $2,500, although it voted a full $7,500 for 477 other federal judges, active and retired. Both houses voted themselves a $7,500 raise, from $22,500 to $30,000.

The swipe at the justices was engineered by Sen. Gordon Allott, Colorado Republican, who justified his action by arguing a justice has his pay for life, active or retired, and that he gets a vacation three months a year.

But this is what other federal judges get, too. Another argument he made was that the present $35,000 paid justices was out of proportion with the $22,500 being paid members of the House and Senate.

If the House agrees and the justices wind up with only $2,500 more this is one act of Congress they won't try to knock out. They'd be more embarrassed to undo it than was Congress when it did it.

MRS. ALAN E. LUDWICK

Georgia Skinner Is Bride In June Church Ceremony

LANDER—The Lander Methodist Church was the setting June 20 for the 1:30 p.m. marriage of Georgia Lee Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. Dale Skinner, and Alan Ellisworth Ludwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ludwick, both of Lander.

The Rev. Paul Inks officiated for the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with bouquets of daisies, mock orange, roses and gladioli. The altar rail was entwined with ivy and mock orange.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Richard Maeder of Warren. Curtis Thompson, cousin of the bridegroom, was the soloist, singing "Wedding Prayer," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

ESCORTEED and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown which she designed of silk and nylon shantung. Floor-length, the modified bell skirt had a detachable train, the bodice had a bateau neckline.

Her three-tiered fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a cabbage rose of the shantung fabric. She carried a white basket filled with daisy mums and ivy with white streamers. For something old, she wore an heirloom necklace given to her by her grandmother.

MARY SWEENEY of Buffalo, N. Y., was maid of honor in peach color. Other attendants were Donna Powell of Timblin, wearing mint green; Bonnie Wood, cousin of the bride from Randolph, N. Y., in pale pink; Kathy Ludwick, sister of the bridegroom, in light blue.

Their street-length sleeveless dresses were styled like the bride's. Their cabbage rose headpieces were of net in dark-rhine shades and they carried old-fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers with streamers matching their gowns.

Diana Lynn Laurence, four-year-old niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her floor-length dress of white dotted swiss over chintz was made by her mother. It was empire waisted with a white satin bow in the back and elbow-length sleeves. She carried a basket of mixed flowers with matching headband.

Allan Concoy of Cleveland, Ohio, was best man and ushers were Don Marsh of Russell, cousin of the bridegroom; Leslie Firth of Erie, and Charles Skinner, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece white lace over beige with gold trim and gold and white accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. Mrs. Ludwick wore a suit of white lace over pink taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of pale pink roses.

IMMEDIATELY following the ceremony, a reception for 150 guests was given in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a liturgical cross made by Mrs. Helen Burlingame.

Also decorating the table were bouquets of mock orange and yellow roses. Lighted candles were encircled by the attendants' bouquets.

MASTER and Mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Fitz Laurence of Kennedy, N. Y., sister and brother-in-law of the bride. Aides, favored with rose corsages, were Mrs. Walter Thompson, who cut the wedding cake; Mrs. Floyd Marsh, who served ice cream; Mrs. Allen Lindell, who served the bridal table.

Mrs. Merle Skinner poured coffee; Mrs. Lynn Burlingame served punch; Bev Riddle, Emmenton, managed the gift book; James Skinner, brother of the bride, attended the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City, Mrs. Ludwick wore a white pique suit with navy blouse and accessories. They are at home in Sugar Grove RD 3.

BOTH YOUNG people were graduated from Eisenhower High School in 1961. Mrs. Ludwick is a senior at Indiana, Pa., State College, majoring in home economics. Mr. Ludwick attended Slippery Rock State College and is employed by Meade's Lumber Mill and on his father's farm.

Parties were given for the bride by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ludwick; Mary Sweeney; Bonnie Wood and Mrs. Allen Lindell; Mrs. Ralph Burgett; Mrs. Richard Wenzel; Mrs. Galen Rapp and Mrs. Ruth Swanson.

Youngsville EUB Church Burning Mortgage Sunday

YOUNGVILLE — Dr. Glenn E. Donelson of Jamestown, N.Y., superintendent of the EUB Erie Conference, will conduct a mortgage-burning ceremony in Youngsville EUB Church Sunday morning.

ACCORDING to the pastor, the Rev. F. Eugene Donelson, the church has liquidated the complete indebtedness on the Educational Unit, which was dedicated Feb. 14, 1960, at a total cost of $58,700.

A loan of $20,000 from the Department of Home Missions and Church Extension in Dayton, Ohio, has been repaid, as well as a $10,000 Limited Grant, the latter amount having been paid two years ahead of schedule.

SINCE the Educational Unit was dedicated, the church basement has been completely remodeled, including a new cement floor with asphalt tile, old partitions replaced with modern fold-doors and cement blocks, as well as a completely remodeled kitchen.

Exterior painting of both church and parsonage has been done, along with redecorating of the church sanctuary. Land at the rear of the church has been purchased for a parking lot, also.

Subject to Law

Surely the eagle best represents the ideal of Liberty. But the picture shows him to be under restriction. He has duties to perform, young to rear and a home to protect. Perhaps freedom is linked with responsibility. From Alaska to the Gulf he ranges in freedom as monarch of the sky. Yet, how subject is he to the natural laws of God. You never see birds very high in the sky. Most birds do not risk much of height above the tree tops. When exhausted they need a branch on which to perch. They fly awhile and then earth calls them down. How clearly the eagle speaks to us Americans. We are so free, yet so subject to God, so responsible to Him and ours. May we limit our own freedom, support His church and realize how subject we are to God.

You In The Church
The Church Is You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors led a brisk stock market rally early this afternoon.

Trading became active as prices rose.

General Motors spurred 1 1/2 to 92 1/2, a record high, and then eased a bit. The previous high was 91 1/2 set last October. Chrysler, gaining 2 1/2 to 52, equaling its 1964 high. Later the gain was whittled to 1 1/2. Ford advanced about half a point.

Brokers said the demand for motors was inspired by anticipation that the second and fourth quarters will prove to be good earnings periods, and by the possibility of an agreement in labor negotiations without a strike.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 1 1/4 to 319.0 with industrials up 2 3/4, rails up 1.0 and utilities up .1.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had gained 3.37 to 848.50.

Mail order-retails, farm implements, aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, rails and oils advanced.

Sears Roebuck advanced a point and Montgomery Ward about half a point. Retail sales were reported up sharply for the fourth of July week.

International Harvester advanced a point.

Phelps Dodge spurred 2 points in a mixed nonferrous metals group.

Du Pont gained about a point and a half while Air Reduction and Eastman Kodak were up more than a half a point.

Gains of around a point were made by U.S. Smelting and Control Data.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and government bonds were mixed.

State's Economic Position
In May Reflects Strength

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—Several of the signs of strength noted throughout the nation were reflected in business activity in the state in May, reports the Bureau of Business Research at The Pennsylvania State University.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT situation continued to improve; the level of steel production remained high; and consumer spending began to respond to increased after-tax income.

The apparent weak spot in the Pennsylvania economy, reports Ned Shilling, business analyst, in the monthly Pennsylvania Business Survey, is still total employment.

"WHILE THE number of jobs increased substantially since the bottom of the 1960-61 recession, the level of employment that was observed just before that recession has not yet been regained.

"Furthermore, employment in the State is now about the same as it was two years ago. The record of the past decade seems to show that national economic growth must be sustained at a high rate if employment in Pennsylvania is to rise much at all.

THE 44,000 increase in jobs from mid-April to mid-May was just slightly above the usual seasonal gain. Major employment groups that showed better than seasonal increases were mining, contract construction, retail trade and state and local governments. The number of state and local government jobs, after declining early last year, has since begun to rise, setting during each month this year a new record.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate fell below 6 per cent, to 5.9 per cent, for the first time in over seven years. Moreover, the drop was attributable to an increase in jobs, rather than a decline in the size of the labor force.

STEEL PRODUCTION in May was at a slightly higher rate than during April with over 26 million tons of ingots being produced. During the summer, output is expected to ease off somewhat as preparation gets underway for model changeovers in the automobile industry, but the cutback will be much milder than that in 1963. The total tonnage through May represented an annual rate of 29 million tons, well above the 25.2 million tons produced last year.

For the second month in a row, coal output—both anthracite and bituminous—increased sharply. The continuation of the current mining pace in the months ahead would make 1964 a very good year for the coal industry.

THE REDUCED income tax withholding, after several months, has finally appeared to have stimulated consumer spending in the State. Department store sales exceeded seasonal expectations in every Pennsylvania metropolitan area or city for which data are provided by the Federal Reserve banks. In most cases, new records were established.

The Philadelphia index rose 10 per cent to a new high; increases in other areas included Pittsburgh, 5 per cent; Erie, 11; York, 11; Wilkes-Barre, 14; Lancaster, 10; Reading, 8; and Scranton, 6.

A more general reflection of overall spending by consumers, businesses, and government agencies, the Survey notes, is provided by the volume of bank deposits which continue to rise above the record level reached in April.

Quaker State Calls Stockholders Meeting

OIL CITY, Pa. (AP)—Quaker State Oil Refining Co. is going to hold a special stockholders' meeting July 30 for a vote on a two-for-one stock split proposal.

The board of directors voted Thursday to call the meeting. They also declared a third quarter dividend of 25-cents a share based on shares outstanding after the special meeting.

This dividend is at a rate of $1 a share for the new stock or equivalent to $2 on the present stock.

Morse Attacks Scranton Link As Candidate

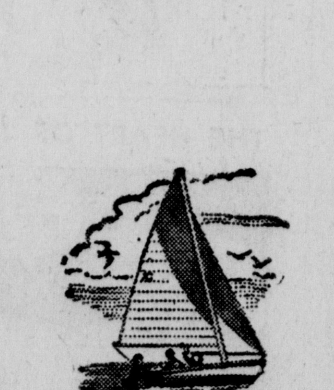

HARRISBURG (AP)—Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse says he believes it was poor taste for Gov. Scranton to be identified in an official Commonwealth publication as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Morse said such identification was made in a photo caption on the front page of the June issue of Mental Health News. In an open letter Thursday to Mrs. Grace West Staley, editor of the publication, the Democratic leader said:

"Identifying the governor in this fashion bears definite and unmistakable political overtones. It is in the worst possible taste to mix politics with an official Commonwealth publication.

"...In the future, it would be advisable for you to exercise greater editorial restraint and not use the advancement of mental health as a Republican political vehicle."

Investing Wisely

By SAM SHULSKY

Q.—I have always been under the impression it is not wise to put all one's eggs in one basket. What percentage of one's net worth should be in real estate, including one's own residence, what percentage in savings, stocks, government bonds, municipal bonds, etc? I'm divided this way: 20% in residence, 20% in business real estate, 10% in business working capital, 10% in inventory, 3% in stocks, 2% in government bonds, 33% in savings. Are there rules on this?

A.—It's an interesting subject for discussion, but hardly for definite reply because the variations on your theme must be legion.

In the first place, as a business man you are not bound by the same rules that apply to a man who is employed at a job in which his capital requirements may be only a fountain pen or a couple hundred dollars worth of tools. Secondly, all businesses are not alike. If you run a small department store, your inventory and real estate capital needs are far greater than if you operate an insurance brokerage.

Not knowing your business, it would be impossible to comment on how much of your funds should be budgeted to it. But "ex" the business, a couple of points can be made.

E bonds are an excellent depository funds, at the same time deferring income tax liability until such time as it may be much lower or disappear altogether. H bonds are valuable from an income point of view since they may be purchased by switching out of E bonds, once more deferring taxes on the accrued gains.

Municipal bonds, of course, are primarily a tax-exempt income vehicle. Your tax bracket dictates your position there.

Savings should generally be equal to 3 to 6 months income. Once more excluding the growth possible in one's own business, common stocks (or real estate — if you know the field) should be the principal vehicle for capital growth.

Q.—If you had a guaranteed income and had adjusted your expenses to that income, what would you do with a windfall of $20,000? and why? I'm not a gambler at heart. If you mention stocks, please do so in relation to the present market level, which is so high that it is difficult to see further advance. I'm 55.

A.—If you have X thousand a year coming in, which exactly covers your living costs, you still have to consider the prospects of inflation over the balance of your lifetime.

That means an equity investment — in real estate, rare stamps, paintings, etc. etc., or common stocks.

I don't think you have to speculate too much, don't even have to go for "way out" growth stocks. Solid oils, autos, stores, foods, rails all yield a fair income and, over the years, keep step with inflation.

The market IS high. It will be higher during the next 10 years.

Q.—My husband left me $20,000 in E bonds. I was told to exchange them for H bonds. Would I profit by doing so?

A.—I don't know what you mean by "profit". Both E bonds and H bonds are government guaranteed. Both earn 3 3/4% over their lifetime — but the E bond GROWS in value while the H bond provides some income via semi-annual checks.

If you need money coming in to meet expenses, you'd better either switch the entire $20,000 into H bonds, or begin cashing about $800 in E bonds a year. The remainder will grow just about enough to keep your investment at $20,000.

Q.—I bought 8 shares of A.T. & T. about 7 years ago. I now have 24. I'm a widow in need of more income. What would you advise?

A.—If you bought 8 A.T. & T. in 1957 you should have 48 now — there was a 3 for 1 split in 1959 and a 2 for 1 recently. A.T. & T. currently yields under 3%. A strong argument could be made for switching the money to some higher yield common and preferreds, if you must stress current income over growth potential.

tim of the early morning assault and robbery. Evan said the 17-year-old is the shorter of the two and "pretty husky for his age."

EVAN STATED that after hitting the station attendant at Don Guher's all-night Keystone Station at 2016 Pennsylvania Ave. E., the pair took off in a banded-up 1960 Corvair, headed east toward Glade, crossed the Glade bridge and made a sharp right turn onto the old Sherwood Road.

From here, police said, the youths headed for Pleasant Twp. and Heart's Content, where their car went off the road and into a field when a tire blew out. A tire change was made on a side road and the wild ride continued. The car was spotted by three residents of Sheffield after turning into Church St.—a dead-end street—there. The car, police reported, turned around, came back out and continued on Route 321 from Ludlow to Kin-zua, and on Route 346 into Cory-don and into Bradford.

THE YOUNG thugs entered the Warren service station at 4:30 a.m. yesterday after hand-ing Knapp $5 to pay for the pur-chase of gas and oil. When Knapp turned to start to unlock the cash register to make change, he was struck from be-hind by one assailant who wielded a 12-inch pipe wrench wrapped in a towel. Knapp fell dazed to the floor and the pair attempted to jimmy the register.

The station attendant then crawled to a desk to get a .38 calibre gun, but was observed and hit again several times. Evan termed yesterday's crime "vicious." One of the pair, he said, urged additional beating when noting that Knapp was coming to.

THE PAIR FLED, but not be-fore witnesses saw the direction they took.

Evan said that although the youth in custody is a juvenile, he will be treated as an adult by police and charged with ag-gravated assault and robbery. The loaded revolver was re-trieved yesterday just east of Warren at about 8 a.m.

Packet of Love Letters Confirms Stories About Harding's 'Past'

NEW YORK (AP)—A packet of more than 250 love letters written by Warren G. Harding to the wife of a department store owner has been found in Marion, Ohio, the late president's home town, the New York Times said today.

The story said that Francis Russell, a historian who has read the letters, said they are the first documentary evidence in support of the repeated as-ertions that Harding — while married—had affairs with at least two women.

The story also said in part: The letters were written to Mrs. James Phillips of Marion between 1909 and 1920, begin-ning when Harding was 44 years old. One of them suggests that Mrs. Phillips asked Harding for money as the price for remain-ing silent after his nomination for president in 1920.

Russell said in an interview Thursday that "internal evi-dence" in the Phillips' letters gives credence to charges made by Nan Britton in a book she published in 1927. The book, called "The President's Daugh-ter," has been the subject of dispute since its publication.

Miss Britton said she had been Harding's mistress for almost a decade before his death on Aug. 2, 1923, and that she gave birth to his daughter, named Elizabeth Ann, in Asbury Park, N.J., on Oct. 22, 1919.

When challenged, however, she could not produce any letters from Harding. In her book she wrote: "Through mutual recognition of the trouble we might cause each other and the unhappiness that might befall, we early decided to destroy all love letters."

Russell came upon the Phil-lips' letters while working on a new biography of Harding. Since then, an effort has been begun to have the letters do-nated to the Library of Con-gress or some other institution and sealed for 50 years.

Many of the letters were written on the stationery of the U.S. Senate, in which Harding served before becoming presi-dent, or on postcards bearing his picture. They were signed "Warren" or Warren G. Har-ding" or with the code name "Constant."

Mrs. Phillips, whose husband operated the Uher-Phillips De-partment Store in Marion, died in 1960. After many years as a recluse, she passed her last days in an institution for the aged maintained by public wel-fare.

Donald Williamson, a Marion lawyer who had been appointed her guardian, found the letters in a locked closet in the large house that had been Mrs. Phil-lips' last home. She had lived there with six dogs.

The letters — jumbled and slightly discolored but other-wise in good condition—were in a large cardboard shoebox. Some of them were brief. Others ran to 35 to 40 pages.

Bakery Sues For $1 Million On Anti-Trust

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bundy Industries, Inc., a bakery in nearby Coraopolis, has sued four competitors for nearly $1 million in damages. Its suit says they have violated the anti-trust laws.

Named as defendants in the suit filed Thursday in U. S. Dis-trict Court were Glaco Co., Bridgeville, Pa.; Lock Glazers, Inc., Cincinnati; and Ekco Prod-ucts Co. and Chicago Metallic Co., both of Chicago.

Bundy contends the four firms conspired for four years to fix prices and operate a monopoly in sale of a glazing compound used on baking pans to prevent sticking.

Bundy said during this period it lost business estimated at $333,000. In accordance with the statutes, it is seeking triple damages.

Man Is Held For Accosting Girl, 12, Here

Borough police today expected to charge a Warren man with assault and battery after he al-legedly accosted a 12-year-old girl at 7:30 p.m. yesterday on the Fifth Ave. bridge.

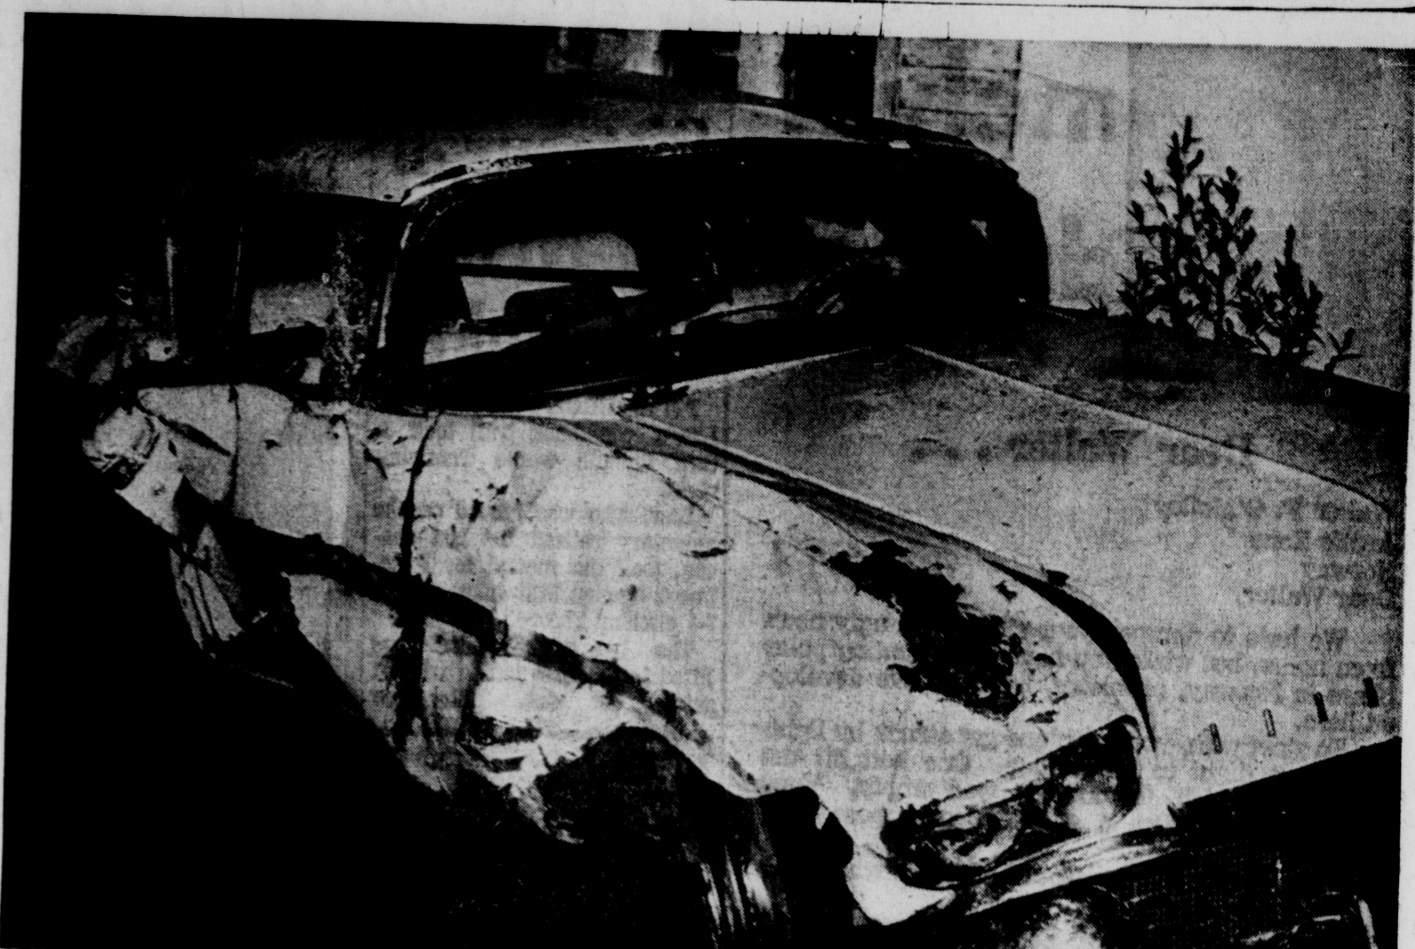

In custody is Willis Lundberg, 36, of 904 Market St. Police stated that Lundberg, a divorced man, stopped the girl, who was riding her bike across the bridge and suggested that she accom-pany him under the bridge. Po-lice said the 12-year-old an-swered, "No, I am not allowed to talk to strangers." Lundberg re-peated his invitation, police said, and grabbed hold of the girl's bike.

According to police the girl was able to ride the vehicle from the bridge to the cinder pile at the east bank of the Conewango Creek, where she dismounted. Lundberg then grabbed her arm, police said.

Police, in searching for the man, were aided by a fisherman who saw the suspect attempt to wade the creek, then return to the shore and head for the bushes. Lundberg was apprehended at his home. Police said the man is alleged to have been hanging around Beaty playground re-cently. Investigation will con-tinue.

Four Persons Are Hurt In Warren County Mishaps

Traffic accidents injured four Warren County persons yester-day and damage was estimated to total $2,900.

STATE POLICE of the Warren substation said that two youths were treated and released at Warren General Hospital fol-lowing a one-car crash which occurred at 4:30 p.m. yesterday south of clarendon on the Chap-man Dam Road.

According to police, a car operated by Arthur J. Rossman, 16 of 1109 Pennsylvania Ave. W., traveling to the recreation area, failed to negotiate the curve in the highway near Aba Baba, ran off the road and overturned.

ROSSMAN SUSTAINED a la-terated left thigh and nose abra-sions and a passenger, 15-year-old Thomas Monroe, a possible pelvic injury. Damage was estimated at $900.

A WARREN man was listed in "fair" condition at Warren General Hospital earlier today as a result of a second one-car mishap which occurred at 2:30 a.m. on Route 6. Police stated that Larry J. Holmes sustained deep head lacerations and a possible skull fracture when he lost control of his car, swerved off the highway and struck a telephone pole.

Holmes was charged with reckless driving and damage was estimated at $2,000, police stated.

JOHN CLIQUAEMOI, 20 of 1210 Pennsylvania Ave. W. was injured in a Westfield (N.Y.) one car crash yesterday. He and three other out-of-state per-sons were treated and released from Westfield Memorial Hos-pital.

State Police at the Fredonia substation stated that a car operated by Robert Venmanhat, 18 of Jamestown was traveling north on Bourne Road in West-field, skidded off the highway and crashed into a tree.

Petition Asks Zoning Law Be Suppressed

RUSSELL—Pine Grove Town-ship Board of Supervisors was told at its regular meeting in Town Hall a petition has been circulated, signed and recorded in the office of Warren G. Lowe, county prothonotary, asking suppression of a zoning or-dinance for the township.

Supervisors stated they have not planned any zoning or-dinance for the area, to date, also that no such ordinance may be adopted without its first having been presented at a public meeting.

Planning Commission guests attending the session conducted by Virgil Williams were Robert Peterson and Robert Skinner, of the Warren County group; Dr. Ward Sharp, Harry Pearson, Lee Larson and John Stanton, for the township.

Additional discussion concern-ed a possible ordinance licens-ing junkyards and controlling burning, fencing and location of such in the township.

Board members have sched-uled another meeting next Thursday evening.

Hoehing Named To Supervise Special Classes

The Warren County School Board last night appointed Joseph G. Hoehing to the position of supervisor of special edu-cation presently held by Dr. Richard J. Hess, effective Sept. 1.

Hess has resigned to take a similar position with Millers-ville State College.

Hoehing has been assistant to Dr. Hess since February, 1961, as supervisor of special classes in Warren and Elk counties and has served as public school psychologist in the two coun-ties.

All school boards in the county are being notified today of action taken Wednesday by the State Council of Basic Educa-tion in approving the one-unit reorganization plan submitted by the county board.

They have 30 days to file an appeal, should they wish to do so. This, it was pointed out, is 30 days from July 8, the date of the state group's action, and not 30 days from formal noti-fication of the council's action.

Appeals must be submitted to the State Board of Education which makes the final decision.

39 Killed—

cific Airlines plane crashed east of San Francisco May 7, killing all 44 aboard.

The United flight originated in Philadelphia and was bound for Huntsville, Ala. The plane had stopped in Washington and was due in Knoxville, 40 miles to the south, six minutes after it crashed in a heavily-wooded hollow at 6:15 p.m.

The pilot, Capt. Oliver E. Sabatke of Washington, radioed 13 minutes before the crash that he was changing from an instru-ment to a visual flight plan. There was a 4,000-foot ceiling, 30-mile visibility and scattered clouds.

"I heard a screeching noise, looked up and saw the plane smoking and coming in toward a hill," said Frank Turner, 52, a Cocke County constable.

Mrs. Charles Hawk said she saw the four-engine plane ex-plode and fall into the hollow near her home.

Other witnesses reported see-ing objects falling from the plane, according to William Cureton, captain of the Newport emergency and rescue squad.

The plane smashed into the side of a hill known as Trent-ham Hollow. Bodies, personal effects and wreckage were strewn over a half-square mile area. One engine rolled 150 feet to the bottom of the hill. A wing section was the largest piece of wreckage.

The wreckage still was burn-ing when the first rescue squads arrived.

It was United's first fatal crash since Nov. 23, 1962.

melvin durslag

Dear Walter . . .

Walter F. O'Malley
Arctic Zone
Norway
Dear Walter,

We hate to dampen your shoot with ugly news from home, but while you have been hunting polar bears in Norway, problems, indeed, have developed here.

To start with, your airplane got struck by lightning on a flight to Milwaukee. One bolt hit the washroom, which, fortunately, was empty. Your players were asleep, a characteristic pose this season.

Another bolt hit the windshield, for which the bill awaits your return.

Next, your executives took advantage of your absence to give a bonus baby named Willie Crawford a very large chunk of your cash.

We realize, of course, that money is no object with you, but Walter, take a couple of tranquilizers before you continue reading — they gave this guy $100,000 that they admitted, plus heaven knows how much more. You may come home to discover Willie Crawford occupying your office.

They also gave $50,000 to a shortstop from Mississippi. He is a cotton farmer's son. Informed that he had been living on catfish, your people assured him that, at Dodger expense, he would be eating chateaubriand like everyone else in the organization, especially when you are away.

Troublemaking Angels

About San Francisco, your team went there for a four-game series and found the food superb. At the Blue Fox, they still serve pheasant baked in clay and they bring a hammer right to your table. Your boys hit the hell out of that clay, but were otherwise passive at Candlestick Park.

Walter, I don't know how to put this, but the Giants won all four games. Your team left more than its heart in San Francisco. It left its haberdashery, too. Your fans here are so angry that they have asked the Angels to remain in Los Angeles — and your fans will move to Anaheim.

Troublemaking rotters, your tenants, the Angels, took advantage of your team's debility to run a winning streak of 11 in a row. People in town were saying, "You don't see Autry hunting polar bears in Norway. Or Horace Stoneham, either."

But these are detractors who would deprive a man a little relaxation, which you deserve, even if your whole organization falls apart while you're at it.

I understand your outlook, Walter. Easy come, easy go. The whole show crashes in Los Angeles and you move to another town and start again. You've got the know-how, baby.

The boat may be rocking, but the loyalty of your manager, Walter Alston, is still to be admired. Cognizant of all the bread shelled out for those bonus infants, Alston is trying to get back a little before your return.

World's Fair Missing

He plans to do this by fining the regulars. If, for instance, a Dodger tries to steal second with the bases loaded, it will cost him $25.

Alston says he is tired of coddling the boys. From here on, they will play it his way, which should be a switch, because judging from the standings, they have been playing it Casey Stengel's way.

The only thing the Mets have that the Dodgers don't is the World's Fair across the street.

While the bottom has fallen out for your club, the top has vanished on ladies' bathing suits. Since you left to hunt your bears, dolls have been turning up at Santa Monica in these new creations which are diverting spectators from your ball park to the beach.

Your tenants, hot streak and all, drew only 6-100 last Sunday. Someone said that if O'Malley were in town, these dames would never get away with those suits.

I have never hunted polar bears in Norway, though I feel it is something that everyone does. Were I to tell my wife, "Dear, I'm going to hunt polar bears in Norway," she would say, "What you mean is, you're going to take the cans down to the curb. This is trash day."

Actually, I would like to join you in Norway because of its proximity to Sweden. For years I have heard about Swedish girls who are in no hurry to get married, and I thought it might be interesting to go over there and exchange philosophies.

Of course, it isn't like hunting polar bears, but I say to each his own. It's just a shame a man can't go out and communicate with nature without his ball club falling on its face. But don't fink to the bears about it.

Your respectful correspondent,
M. Durslag

Pittsburgh Belted by Milwaukee

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Vernon Law's comeback trail took a turn for the worse Thursday night.

Law, who was placed on the voluntary retired list last season, took the mound for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee with a 7-6 pitching record.

The big right-hander was lifted in the first inning without getting an out. Milwaukee nicked him for four runs on four hits and went on to whip the Pirates, 11-6.

Braves lead-off batter Ed Mathews singled. This was followed by singles by Dennis Menke, Hank Aaron and Lee Mave. Then Joe Torre doubled and Rico Carty singled.

In all, the Braves had six straight hits in the inning and staked veteran southpaw Warren Spahn to a five-run lead.

But the 43-year-old Spahn failed to finish for the 11th straight time. After three innings, Spahn had a 9-2 lead, but he left in the sixth after walking the first two batters.

Spahn, 5-8, last went the route May 19 and has only three complete games in 18 starts for the Braves this season.

After Spahn left, reliever Bob Sadowski struck out the next two batters. He walked one and then Bob Bailey singled home two runs.

Mathews, who feasted on Pirate pitching all night, triggered a three-run second inning with a single and homered in the third. He had three hits in four times at bat, scored three runs and had one-run batted-in.

Bill Mazeroski and Gene Alley had consecutive homers in the fourth for the Pirates.

Bob Friend (6-8) will start for the Pirates tonight Against The Braves' Hank Fischer (6-5).

LEADS BRITISH OPEN — Champagne Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., holes a putt on the 17th green in the second round of the British Open Golf Championship at St. Andrews, Scotland, yesterday. He shot a four-under-par 68 to take the lead, then repeated today with another four-under-par effort after getting off to a slow start. Meanwhile, Jack Nicklaus blasted his way back into contention with a record-equalling 66. (See Story.) — Associated Press Wirephoto via cable from St. Andrews.

Jack Ties St. Andrews Record

By TOM REEDY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Champagne Tony Lema, faced with a record-equalling 66 by Jack Nicklaus, responded with his second straight 68 to day and finished the third round of the British Open Golf Tournament with 209, seven strokes ahead of Nicklaus.

Lema, who began the day with a two-stroke lead over the field, started as if the fabled Old Course of St. Andrews had finally conquered him.

While Nicklaus was posting his wonderful 66, six under par, Lema had three fives in the first five holes, and was two over par for that stretch.

Then the San Leandro, Calif., star—winner of three U.S. tournaments last month—got going. He had three threes in a row on the last three holes—two of them birdies—and turned in an even par 36.

Two more threes on the 10th and 11th made it five straight, and Lema wound up with a 32, four under par, for the back side.

Nicklaus' 66 had put him back into contention at 216, following rounds of 76 and 74.

Nicklaus joined Peter Alliss and Bernard Hunt of Britain as co-holder of the competitive course record.

Nicklaus, who has won every major title in golf except this one, simply overpowered the Old Course, which is just a shade under 7,000 yards long, and climaxed his round by driving the 381-yard 18th and two-putting from 100 feet for a birdie three.

Nicklaus missed winning the British Open last year when he bogeyed the last two holes and was beaten by a stroke.

Earlier, Phil Rodgers, one of five Americans who survived the halfway cut, shot an unimpressive 74 for a 227 total, 11 over par.

The final round will be played this afternoon. Champagne Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., had a two-stroke lead when play began, after rounds of 68-73-141.

Rodgers, from La Jolla, Calif., was the first of the Americans to finish his morning round, Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y., followed him in with a 76 for another 227.

Gusty winds which have plagued the players all week continued unabated and coupled with bright sunshine produced greens so fast that putts had to be stroked perfectly.

Even noted putters like Kel Nagle, winner of this title in 1960 on the same Old Course, shot themselves right out of it this morning. The Australian veteran had an 80 for 23, and blamed it all on his putting.

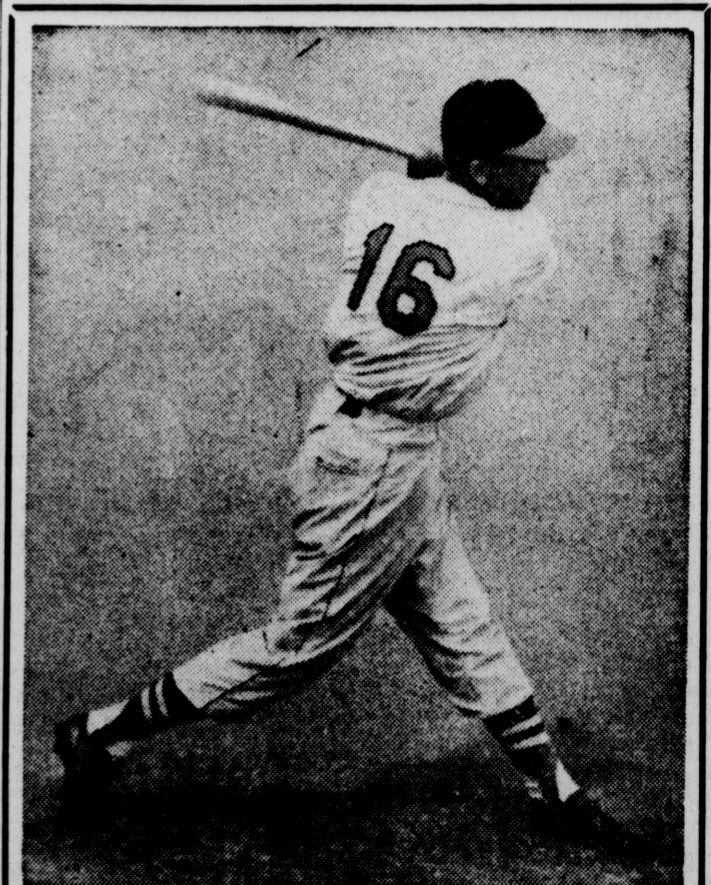

Defending champion Bob Charles of New Zealand battled back into the running with a brilliant 69 for a total of 219.

The left-hander, who beat Rodgers in a 36-hole playoff last year, opened with 79 and had 71 Thursday.

Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., shot 36-38-74, for a total of 225, and said, "You have no idea how well I've been playing. I never once hit an iron off line, and I finish up with 74.

Congressman To Act If Braves Move

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A Milwaukee congressman has threatened action under the antitrust laws unless the National League moves to halt the possible shift of the Milwaukee Braves to Atlanta.

In a telegram sent Thursday to Warren Giles, president of the league, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., said "If baseball is to retain its exemption under the antitrust laws it must act responsibly.

"It is irresponsible and highly unfair for a team to come into a city, take advantage of an initial high level of fan interest while benefiting from costly new facilities provided by the public and private enterprise and then, when attendance has settled to normal levels, look for another city in which to repeat the process."

"If the National League takes any steps to permit the Braves to leave Milwaukee," Reuss said, "I am serving notice that I intend to request the House judiciary chairman, Emanuel Celler, to undertake full investigation of whether such conduct should be subject to the antitrust laws."

Reuss said if the current owners are having financial troubles, local interests should be given a chance to buy the club at a fair price.

At Cincinnati Giles said, "Mr. Reuss sent me a telegram and I'm going to answer it as I do all my communications."

Meanwhile, county board chairman Eugene Grobschmidt dared the Braves to go ahead and sue on his televised remarks that the Braves were "definitely capable of playing better baseball."

Braves' President John McHale said earlier in the day he may sue Grobschmidt if the chairman doesn't retract the statement.

At Pittsburgh, Manager Bobby Bragan of the sixth-place Braves, said "Speaking for my players, all I can say is that they're all doing their best. If it's not good enough, there isn't any more they can do." The Braves backed off their threatened suit against Grobschmidt late Thursday.

Orioles Boost Lead; No Hula for Belinsky

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bo Belinsky won't get to Hawaii, but he's returned to paradise.

The Los Angeles Angels' controversial left-hander sailed home Thursday night with a two-hit 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox for his first shutout since Aug. 11, 1962.

Less than a month ago, Belinsky was asking Angels' General Manager Fred Haney for a ticket to the beach at Waikiki, where he was stationed last season after a demotion to the minors. Belinsky said the pressure in the majors was too great.

Haney, however, turned thumbs down on a trip to the land of the hula and suggested Belinsky would do well to let his pitches do the dancing.

Fine, said Belinsky, "but if I'm seen in a night spot, that's my business. No one else's. It's not that I'm not going to take the game seriously. I'm simply going to be loose and relaxed about it."

Since then the 27-year-old southpaw has won three of four starts and compiled an eye-opening .96 earned run average. Over-all, he's 7-4 with a 2.68 ERA and headed for his best season since he broke into the majors in 1962 with a 10-11 record, including a no-hitter.

Meanwhile, the Baltimore Orioles boosted their American League lead to 3½ games and added to their amazing record in one-run games by sweeping a two-night doubleheader from Cleveland 4-3 and 2-1. The Orioles are playing .913 ball in one-run games with a 21-2 record in the squeakers.

The other AL games all were decided by one run with the New York Yankees regaining second place by defeating Washington 6-5, Minnesota nipping Kansas City 2-1 and Detroit edging Boston 4-3.

Belinsky was touched only for singles, by Rod Hansen in the fifth and Jerry McNertney in the sixth, and did not allow a runner to reach second base. He got the only run he needed in the fourth inning when Lou Clinton homered off Gary Peters for the first earned run allowed by White Sox pitchers in 31 innings.

Boog Powell provided all the Orioles' runs in the opener with a pair of two-run homers. Rookie Wally Bunker allowed the Indians only three hits, but two were homers by Leon Wagner and Bob Chance and the 19-year-old right-hander needed Stu Miller's relief help to bring his record to 9-2.

In the nightcap, Bob Johnson's double in the eighth drove in the tying run for the Orioles before rookie Sam Bowers, won it in the ninth with a two-out homer off Sam McDowell.

Don Lock's three-run homer shoved the Senators into an early lead but the Yankees tied the score in the fifth and put it out of reach with a three-run eighth. Joe Pepitone's bad-hop single with the bases loaded drove in two runs in the rally before Cleve Boyer brought home the clincher with another single.

The Twins won when Bob Allison and Don Mincher hit consecutive sixth inning homers off the A's Jose Santiago, making his first major league start. Allison's 22nd homer and Mincher's 12th gave Jim Katt, 10-3, just enough support. Katt allowed eight hits, including a homer by Ken Harrelson.

Dave Wickersham, tagged for two homers by Lee Thomas, needed Larry Sherry's relief help in Detroit's victory but became the AL's first 12-game winner. Gates Brown hit a homer for the Tigers, who scored the decisive run in the sixth against the Red Sox on singles by Norm Cash, Dick McAuliffe and George Thomas.

Hot Stovers' Benefit Day Will Be Free

The Upper Allegheny Hot Stove League will not charge admission to its Benefit Game this year, the league announced yesterday.

The league normally charges $1 for admission to benefit day but has decided this year to allow free admission and conduct a voluntary collection instead. The league said the success of its candy sale resulted in the dropping of the admission price. Benefit Day this year will be held on Wilder Field Aug. 8. The rain date is Aug. 15. Refreshments will be available during both the championship and exhibition games.

Approximately 700 boxes of the candy from the sale have been redistributed to the youths for sale with each boy receiving a 10-cent per box commission. Close to 6,000 boxes have already been sold.

At its recent meeting the league also issued a warning to several communities which were not represented at the meeting. Among the communities not present were the Pittsburgh-Garland-Grand Valley District and the Chancellors Valley District.

Two communities were dropped from the league last year for failure to attend meetings. The league said the same thing could happen this year if the communities don't show for meetings.

Diamond Failure Turning to Pro Gridiron

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Tom Brown decided to seek a football career with the Green Bay Packers because he didn't like his chances of making baseball's major leagues.

Brown, the former University of Maryland star in both sports, told Manager Jim Lemon of York in the Eastern League last Sunday that he was quitting after 1½ years of baseball.

"Lemon told me I had a 50-50 chance of making the majors," Brown told Arthur D. Postal, a University of Maryland student working for the summer with the Frederick Post.

"I can't take that much of a chance," Brown said of Lemon's appraisal.

Brown, who has a wife and a 10-month-old son, said he was not discouraged by his failure in baseball.

The former Washington Senators' bonus player said he planned to go back to Maryland in the fall, and estimated it would take him two semesters to earn enough credits for his degree.

Weight Lifting Class Starts Here

By BOB RICE

There's more than one way to keep physically fit and a visitor to Warren for the summer months believes he has found the way which suits him best.

He's Charles Haynes, assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church here. And he's a weight lifter.

Haynes started weight lifting as a means to lose some extra weight, 60 pounds worth. He has been at his hobby for the past three years off and on but hasn't taken it seriously until the past six months.

He lost the 60 pounds some time ago.

He continues to lift weights as a means of keeping in shape and encourages others to do so, also. He has started a program in the church where he is serving three nights a week from 7-9 p.m. The nights are Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. It is open to any junior or senior high school youth in Warren. You need not be a member of the church to participate.

Haynes brought all the necessary equipment with him for working out. Included in his gear are a bench press, light press, squat racks and other smaller pieces of weight lifting equipment.

At the present time there are five boys with Haynes in the program. He stated that he would like to have many more boys take up the program and used this as an invitation to join. The program is conducted in the church's gym.

Haynes plans to return to his student teaching duties at the University of Pennsylvania in September. He is a native of Washington, D. C., and has been in Warren since early June.

Scores turned in between showers weren't of championship calibre, Pete Juliano's 39 being the best of the day. Hal Conarro and Bob Alexander had 40's in the second flight. Forty-one was good for second in the first division, shared by Tim Creal, Emmy Morrison, Wally Sedwick and Parm Davis.

Dr. Frank Butt and Lloyd Cleveland were second in the next flight with 43's.

Dick Ross' 42 was best in the third followed by 43's by Stu Nelson, Carl Mazzu and Chet Christensen.

Next Monday a junior quadrangular will be held here, teams from Conewango Valley, Titusville, Wanango and Corry participating. The men's golf committee will contribute substantial prizes to encourage the junior linksmen who before long will be playing in the regular quadrangular.

Wickersham Wins 12th, Best in AL

DETROIT (AP)—You almost have to beg Dave Wickersham to give himself some of the credit for being one of the most successful pitchers in the American League this season.

Wickersham, with ninth-inning help from Larry Sherry, defeated Boston 4-3 Thursday night to bring his record to 12-5 and make him the winningest pitcher in the AL. He has won his last six starts.

Though considered by some as a throw-in on the Rocky Colavito-Jerry Lumpe trade during the off-season, Wickersham has become one of the pleasant surprises in the Tigers' so-so season.

Pressed for an answer as to what he has done personally to better himself, Wickersham finally admitted that his screwball is the pitch that has come along the best.

"I'm not really a strikeout pitcher," is a phrase the big right-hander has repeated a number of times.

"Maybe I'll strike out 150 this season," he continued. "If you consider that being a strikeout pitcher."

He struck out four Red Sox to run his total to 104, second best in the league.

Your Horoscope for Tomorrow

By Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 11

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—You may think you are not as effective as you should be, but if you are trying, the odds are in your favor. Handle difficult matters step by step.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—If the pressure is on in a particular area, give that section more time and thought. But in striving hard for one goal, do not neglect other tasks or overlook new developments.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Being undaunted when the travelling is rough is a wonderful accomplishment, and YOU often attain success because of such courage—plus your ingenuity. Let nothing daunt you now.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Stick to your goals if they are worthwhile, but remember that "it is a bad plan that permits of no modification." A rewarding day if you play your cards right.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)

—Strong, helpful influences—take quick but careful advantage. Aim toward and work hard for the best, not minding obstacles along the way. This is your HAPPIEST route.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—If you allow yourself to be affected by each way the wind blows, you will be in constant turmoil. Plan your day early, stick to necessary tasks and sidestep irrelevant matters.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Start the day with verve and maintain a steady pace. Investigate the soundness of speculative offerings. Proper restraint in all matters is advised.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Hear others' views; voice yours, but be careful how you do it. Some confusing situations will prevail, so maintain poise and rationality.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—You will now be in competition with top-flight people and their activities. You can hold your own, advance some. Good ideas and eloquent speech will help.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—You may experience temptations to dodge issues, work and obligations, to "take off" on tangents or otherwise neglect responsibilities. DON'T! This is a day in which you can only achieve through stick-to-itiveness.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—A day which calls for strong discrimination. Listen thoughtfully, observe, but do not read meanings into things not intended. Uranus' aspect warns against hasty decisions.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—Avoid a present tendency to procrastinate. Seek increased advancement by directing your thoughts and actions in profitable directions. There's much more to attain than you may realize.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an active mind, but, unlike the Gemini who precedes you zodiacally, you can sit back and think out systems, decisions. The Gemini moves too quickly at times, but YOU must be careful not to move too late! If the world seems to be passing you by, it is because you are not grasping advantages, not making the most of your talents—probably because of apprehension. Spend to earn more; save, yes, but reach out, too; exchange views with many. Anxiety, fear of misunderstanding, skepticism likely faults. Birthdate of: John Q. Adams, 6th U. S. President; John Wanamaker, merchant.

TODAY in WASHINGTON

— By The Associated Press —

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate hearings into the funeral business found an industry where price competition "is deliberately hampered—and in large for-bidden," the investigation's chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, declared Thursday.

The Michigan Democrat, who heads the Senate Antitrust and dictated at the close of the three days of hearings that the Federal Trade Commission "will take a hard look at the situation."

Citing the National Funeral Directors Association which prohibits as unethical the advertising of prices, Hart said in his opinion "no single group in this country—funeral directors or otherwise—has the right to agree among themselves to take any steps to eliminate price competition."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has President Johnson's reported action in getting a $60,000 contract settlement for LeRoy Collins.

Collins, former governor of Florida, resigned a $75,000-a-year post as president of the National Association of Broadcasters to accept appointment as director of the new Community Relations Service created by the Civil Rights Act.

Collins told the Senate Commerce Committee earlier in the week he would receive the $60,000 settlement, plus some other benefits, from the NAB. His contract with the broadcasters had more than a year to run. His salary from the government will be set by the President, reportedly at about $28,000.

Williams, in a Senate speech, quoted Broadcasting magazine as reporting Collins was released from the contract after Johnson called NAB's executive committee to the White House. The magazine said after the White House meeting the NAB their president and give him severance to offset salary sacrifices he will make in taking the government job," Williams declared.

Rep. Edwards Calls Civil Rights Work In Southland 'Vital'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., whose son is a civil rights worker in Mississippi this summer, says the student effort to help Negroes there is sure to continue year around—"It's working too well to let it stop."

Edwards, who just returned from a tour of southwestern Mississippi, said there is great concern among students there about what will happen to local Negroes when summer is over and the students leave the state.

He said "it will have to be planned for. We must let it be established that the program is not going to end, that the eyes of the world and of the federal government are on the white people of Mississippi."

Edwards said in an interview Thursday he was "immensely proud" of his son, Leonard, 23, a law student, for going to Mississippi to try to get Negroes registered to vote, but was "terribly concerned" for his safety.

The house at McComb, Miss., in a Negro district in which Edwards and his son slept last Monday night was ripped the following night by three bombs thrown from the street.

"There is a very deep distrust of the FBI among students in the Mississippi project," said Edwards, who was an FBI agent before he joined the Navy in World War II.

"They cannot understand why in the case of the three missing students (at Philadelphia, Miss.) so many hours went by with the FBI refusing to become involved in a rather obvious kidnapping case."

It was learned Thursday night that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is considering a trip to Mississippi, where more than 100 agents are searching for the three rights workers missing since June 21.

The FBI refused to comment on Hoover's reported tentative plan.

Professors Ask President For 'Neutralized' Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 5,000 university professors called on President Johnson today—and both the Republican and Democratic parties—to work for a neutralized North and South Viet Nam.

In a statement circulated by the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, they declared that neutralizing both parts of the divided country would end its terror and suffering as well as the continuing loss of American and Vietnamese lives.

"It would be preferable to deeper involvement or irresponsible pullout," the educators said in an appeal to the President and to the platform committees of the two parties.

There was no immediate response at the State or Defense Departments.

The statement said: "We appeal to you, Mr. President, not to enlarge the scope of the war, but instead to work for a neutralized North and South Viet Nam, as a separate, federated or reunified state, protected by international guarantees and peace-keeping forces against all outside interference."

The proposal differed from other calls for neutralization, particularly that by Cambodia, in that it specifically included Communist North Viet Nam.

Thursday, the State Department rebuffed a suggestion by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that a 14-nation Geneva conference be reconvened in an effort to settle the war in South Viet Nam, with U.N. peace-keeping forces to supervise the implementation of any peace plan developed by the conference.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee June 23 that the U.S. effort in South Viet Nam "carries the risk of escalating to military actions outside the border of South Viet Nam."

In his testimony, released Thursday by the committee, McNamara said the U.S. objective is clear—to maintain the independence of South Viet Nam. This, he said, "may require some military action outside the borders" in the future.

Missionaries Ask LBJ To Honor Kennedy's Pledge to Senecas

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP)—A conference of Indian missionaries has wired President Johnson, asking him to fulfill the late President Kennedy's pledge of help for the Seneca Indians.

The Senecas must leave their reservation in southwestern New York State by Oct. 1 to make way for the U.S. Army's Kinzua Dam project.

More than 350 Indian missionaries of 15 Protestant denominations, meeting in triennial conference here, joined in the message to Washington.

House and Senate conferees have met several times, without success, in efforts to work out a compromise in their respective bills to compensate the Indians.

The message said, in part: "The National Fellowship of Indian Workers strongly urges you to use the full power of your office to fulfill President Kennedy's pledge of federal cooperation with the Seneca Nation of Indians to support a strong rehabilitation fund for the Seneca Nation . . ."

New Yorkers 'Delighted' With Jackie's Decision

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — This tough old concrete jungle that they supposedly built without a heart is beside itself with something suspiciously like municipal pride at the thought of someone actually wanting to live here rather than just visit.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy's decision to move to New York in the fall with her two children from the Georgetown section of Washington—first into the Carlyle Hotel and then into an apartment — moved the town's municipal dailies to depths of civic spirit untapped since the Indians unloaded everything north of the Brooklyn Bridge for $24.

The Daily News, the country's largest daily labeled the decision as a colossal rap at the remark that New York "is a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there."

While City License Commissioner Joseph Dicarlo was cautioning sight-seeing bus drivers against pointing out Mrs. Kennedy's mid-Manhattan hotel on their tours, the Herald Tribune was hoping Mrs. Kennedy and her children would find in the big city the anonymity they sought elsewhere.

Non-New Yorkers may wonder how anyone could find anonymity in a busy hotel in the midst of a bustling city of eight million people at the height of the World's Fair, but what they miss is the endearing indifference of New York.

The anonymity situation is so extraordinary in New York hotels and restaurants that critic Clifton Fadiman once wrote a learned treatise on the subject of "getting the attention of a Schrafft's waitress."

Some of the biggest names in Who's Who have managed to find perfect privacy in New York hotels. The late Gen. Douglas MacArthur and former President Herbert Hoover both managed to find peace and quiet while camped out in the city's biggest and busiest hotel, the Waldorf Astoria.

Dog Proves Too Good As Protector

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Emma Keefer, 80, strolling with her pet dog, Blackie, was a familiar sight in the neighborhood.

Miss Keefer, who—except for Blackie—lived alone, would smile and nod to the neighbors, several who looked after her meager wants and occasionally brought her gifts of food.

When the two took their regular stroll Thursday, Miss Keefer suddenly halted, staggered and collapsed.

A passerby called police.

They arrived quickly, only to be confronted by Blackie who stood protectively by his mistress and growled at every approach by the officers.

The moments ticked by, but each time the police tried to approach Miss Keefer the dog snarled and stood his ground.

Finally, fearful that any more time would prove fatal to Miss Keefer, a policeman drew his revolver and shot Blackie.

They rushed the woman to a hospital but she was pronounced dead on arrival. She had suffered a heart attack during the walk.

Zip in Mails Slips a Bit For One Letter

CHICAGO (AP)—The zip in the mails these days has letters circling the globe at record breaking speeds.

Take the 57 days it took Harry S. Albin's letter to get across the street.

When John Segal finally received it, he found not just Albin's 5-cent stamp, but four other strange looking stamps besides.

On the back of the envelope was a note: "This letter arrived in Brazil by mistake. Am forwarding it." The stamps were Brazilian.

Albin's printing office are at 1223 S. Wabash. Segal, also a printer, has offices at 1139 S. Wabash. Albin had included the new ZIP code in the address.

'Freedom Schools' in Mississippi Aid Negro Voters

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—They call them schools, but there aren't any report cards, bells or football teams.

The students are Negroes.

The teachers are white.

They are called "Freedom Schools"—part of the sweeping civil rights movement in Mississippi being directed by the Council of Federated Organizations, which coordinates activities of the major civil rights groups.

575 students ranging in age from 8 to 82 are registered. Another school has only 15 pupils.

The schools are striving to teach subjects and ideas which a COFO spokesman says "are not normally available" to the Negro.

The students in the 8-12 age group study reading, writing, spelling, Negro history and general mathematics.

Those older can choose courses from the language arts, American history, social studies science and math.

Unit Picked To Probe Chester Riot

HARRISBURG (AP)—A five member commission named by Gov. Scranton plans to investigate circumstances surrounding racial demonstrations in Chester and report back to the governor no later than Sept. 1.

Scranton appointed the commission Thursday in the wake of continued charges of state and local police brutality during the demonstrations April 22-24. A state police investigation that uncovered no evidence of brutality failed to satisfy civil rights groups.

Commission members: Thomas W. Pomeroy Jr., Pittsburgh attorney and former president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

David Stahl of Pittsburgh, attorney general under former Gov. David L. Lawrence and currently active in the national civil rights movement.

Ernest Scott, past chancellor of the Philadelphia Bar Association.

James Gallagher, Philadelphia attorney who is secretary of the city's Catholic Commission on Human Relations.

Ira Reid, professor of sociology at Haverford College and a Negro civic leader.

Pomeroy was requested by the governor to convene the commission as soon as possible.

At Harrisburg, there is a teacher shortage already. Some
